$896 MILLION SLASH

Kennedy Forces Launch Fight As Aid Funds Sliced

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration, joined by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, told Congress Friday an $896 million slash in President Kennedy's foreign aid money bill would endanger free world security in the face of a mounting Communist threat.

Kennedy aides launched an all-out fight for the funds shortly after the House Appropriations Committee cut the bill to $3.4 billion on grounds the United States should curb overseas assistance until its own security needs are determined.

The total compared with a $4.2 billion aid ceiling for the 12 months that started July 1 approved by Congress in an authorization bill Wednesday. Kennedy originally sought $4.8 billion.

PLEA LIKELY

Administration officials said they expected Kennedy to lead the fight for the money by issuing a public statement.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara fired off a letter to appropriations committee chairman Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., warning that the cut would endanger free world security.

Eisenhower issued a statement saying he was "gravely concerned" at the fund cut during such a tense moment in the cold war. He called on Democrats and Republicans alike to join him in urging that the money be restored.

But Rep. Otto E. Passman, D-La., who led the fight for the cuts, declared after the two-hour committee meeting: "This is a great day for the taxpayers."

High administration sources branded the slash irresponsible. They announced a drive to mobilize congressional support for restoring the money when the bill comes to the House floor next Tuesday.

In their letter to Cannon, Rusk and McNamara said Communist pressure has been stepped up on many fronts during recent months. They cited Berlin, the resumption of Russian nuclear tests, Laos and Viet Nam.

The aid cuts, they said, ... [illegible]

Macon L. Weaver, recently named U.S. attorney for north Alabama, said the two-count indictment charges the nine with conspiracy to violate laws involving persons traveling in interstate commerce.

Seven of the nine were arraigned at Anniston Friday.

The other two are Roger Dale Couch, 19, Anniston, presently in jail there on a burglary count, and Cecil Lamar Lewallyn, 22, Anniston, in a hospital as a result of an automobile accident Aug. 13.

The bus that burned four miles west of Anniston carried 17 persons, including several Negroes and white persons in the Freedom Rider group.

Man Is Sought After Threats On JFK's Life

SOUTH YARMOUTH, Mass. (UPI) — Massachusetts state police issued a statewide alert Friday night for a heavily armed former mental patient who has said he wants to kill President Kennedy.

Lt. James Cleary, head of the state police detail at the weekend White House in nearby Hyannis Port, identified the wanted man as Howard C. Cooper, 26, a former resident of the Boston suburbs of Brighton and Brookline.

Cleary said Cooper was believed to be en route to Massachusetts from Texas by plane. "He has made a statement regarding killing the President," the state police bulletin said.

Police said it was believed Cooper was carrying a revolver and a .45-caliber automatic, and is believed to be "extremely dangerous."

The state police said Cooper applied for a visa to go to the Soviet Union in 1960. The application was denied. He has been committed to several mental hospitals, police said.

Cooper was described as being about 5 feet, 8 inches tall, weighing about 178 pounds, medium complexion and medium build.

Senators Eager To Get Holiday

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate passed 59 bills Friday in a 9½-hour session.

Eagerness to get away for a Labor Day weekend plus increasing pressure for a mid-September adjournment of Congress contributed to the phenomenal spurt.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., said he would not have believed it possible but was happy over the performance.

He then told his colleagues they would not have to reassemble until 8 a.m. EST Tuesday. Earlier this week he had warned that the work pile-up probably would necessitate sessions on Saturdays and Labor Day.

Louisiana Bus Law Attacked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department Friday filed suit seeking to strike down as unconstitutional a Louisiana law requiring racial segregation of bus terminal facilities.

Named as defendants in the suit were three officials of Baton Rouge accused of unlawfully attempting to force the Greyhound Corp. to maintain segregation in the Baton Rouge bus station.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy announced filing of the suit at federal district court in New Orleans. It was the first such action by the federal government challenging the constitutionality of a state travel segregation law.

CLAIMS THREATS

Kennedy said the Baton Rouge officials threatened to prosecute Greyhound if it does not end desegregation in its terminal there. The officials demanded compliance with a state law which requires interstate motor carriers to maintain one set of facilities for interstate travelers and another set for white intrastate travelers.

The defendants were Sargent Pitcher, Jr., district attorney of East Baton Rouge Parish (County); Bryan Clemmons, sheriff of the parish; and Shirley S. Arrighi, Baton Rouge police chief.

According to the complaint, Pitcher sent a letter to the terminal manager in Baton Rouge Aug. 11 requesting immediate compliance with the state segregation law.

"The defendants threaten to arrest and prosecute the officers, agents, and employes of Greyhound," the complaint said. "Unless Greyhound maintains racially segregated facilities in its bus terminal in Baton Rouge."

The complaint asked the court to issue a temporary order to restrain the defendants from attempting to enforce the state law.

The government alleged in its suit that the practical effect of the Louisiana law is to require

Divers Recover Space Capsule

HONOLULU (UPI) — Three parachuting skindivers Friday night recovered from the Pacific a 300-pound capsule that carried human, animal and soil life samples through the deadly radiation of space for two days.

When the three men pulled the Discoverer XXIX payload aboard a 20-man life raft north of here, it signaled the seventh success in the Air Force's program to learn how to send things back from orbit.

The Air Force, in announcing the success at its space systems division at Inglewood, Calif., said the gold-plated packet fell outside the recovery area beyond the reach of waiting snare-trailing airplanes.

AWAIT DESTROYER

But the specially-trained parachuting skindivers — two whom SOUTH YARMOUTH Mass. had performed the same feat before — were dropped to the capsule. Within 40 minutes they had it safely aboard the life raft and were awaiting the arrival of a Navy destroyer to pick them up.

The Air Force School of Aviation Medicine at Brooks Air Force Base, Tex., prepared the payload. It included human joint and bone marrow cells, a three-day-old embryonic chick heart, and a type of soil bacteria (clostridium Sporogenes) which breaks down decaying matter in the soil.

Also aboard, the Air Force said, were two types of viruses, one of common flu kind that has lived in a laboratory since being isolated in the 1930s.

Algae, bread mold and radiation-monitoring docimeters made up the rest of the payload.

Rider Hurt, Horse Dies In Accident

The first holiday fatality was recorded for this area yesterday and a man was seriously injured on Natchitoches Street in West Monroe.

A "skittish" horse named Boots died in the path of a cement truck and her young rider Bill Nolan, 27, of route four, West Monroe, suffered a possible brain concussion.

Law enforcement officials from all departments said they were sorry the horse was killed, but were glad it was only a horse and not a person.

They were still urging all motorists to drive carefully during the Labor Day weekend to avoid fatalities in this area. Officers pointed out that already a total of 14 accidents had occurred by 9 p.m.—eight in Monroe, five in West Monroe and one recorded by Troop F, state police.

Extra officers are on duty to keep traffic under control and will be watching for speeders, persons operating while under the influence of intoxicating beverages and reckless drivers.

Yesterday's freak accident occurred in the 1300 block of Natchitoches Street around 3:40 p.m. as Nolan was riding his mount

U.S. Probes Plane Crash Fatal To 78

Officials Seek To Learn Cause Of Fiery Plunge

CHICAGO (AP) — Federal officials quickly began a piece-by-piece check of the wreckage of an airliner Friday in an effort to find out why it carried 78 persons to their death.

All aboard perished in the worst accident in the nation's history involving a single commercial plane.

FBI CHECKING

The Federal Bureau of Investigation dug into the possibility that a bomb might have caused the disaster, although witnesses said there was no explosion in the air.

Melvin N. Gough, director of the Civil Aeronautics Bureau of safety, flew to Chicago to lead an inquiry. His Chicago associates planned a painstaking hunt for the reason why it plunged into a field and broke asunder in the early morning darkness.

The crash wiped out one family of seven and two others of six and five each.

An accept on youth added to the tragedy. The victims—73 passengers and five crew members—included 20 children, 26 women and 32 men.

The Trans World Airlines Constellation plopped into a field and burst into flames in the suburban area 10 miles west of Chicago's Midway Airport.

The plane, flight 529, left Boston at 7:45 p.m. Thursday. It was en route to Los Angeles and had made stops at New York, Pittsburgh and Chicago.

Witnesses said the four-engine plane apparently tried to make an emergency landing. There was no explosion in the air.

But the Federal Bureau of Investigation began checking the possibility that a bomb had been placed aboard.

A special FBI disaster unit and Civil Aeronautics Board officials flew in from Washington to take part in the inquiry.

The Constellation fell and burned at 2:05 a.m. between Clarendon Hills and Hinsdale.

It had just taken off from Mid-

U.S. Charges Two Suspects With Kidnaping

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (AP) — A teen-ager and a tattooed transient were charged in federal warrants Friday with kidnaping Margaret Wernicker from her home near Belleville Wednesday night. They also were sought for a double slaying in the same neighborhood that night.

The fate of Miss Wernicker, 39, an Addressograph operator for a St. Louis department store, and the whereabouts of the accused pair still were a mystery.

Charged as abductors were John Edwin Meyers, 32, alias Chuck Carter, and Donna Marie Stone, 13, both former Chicago residents. The FBI said the girl, heavily built and appearing older then her years, had been living with grandparents at nearby Edwardsville until she disappeared Aug. 22.

Two hours after the kidnaping of Miss Wernicker the trussed body of George Ballard, 47, was found on a lakeshore just a few hundred yards from Miss Wernicker's home. The body of his daughter, Carole, 11, was found in the same wooded area Thursday. Both had been shot once through the head with a 22-caliber weapon.

INAUGURAL PLANS MADE

Goulart Returns To Brazil Home

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Vice President Joao Goulart returned to the friendly soil of South Brazil Friday night and was proclaimed President by his followers the moment his plane landed at Porto Alegre.

Opposition to him still seethed among military leaders in north Brazil.

But some congressional leaders at Brazilia made plans for an inaugural to install him Monday afternoon — with perhaps less than full powers.

Goulart flew from Montevideo, Uruguay, to the capital of his home state of Rio Grande do Sul after days of hesitation over how and when he should claim the presidency vacated last week by Janio Quadros.

GETS CHEERS

While thousands cheered Goulart at Porto Alegre, congressional leaders in Brasilia announced their plans for the inaugural at 1 p.m. Monday.

There was no immediate indication that he would accept curtailed powers.

The nation's military chiefs stuck to their refusal to accept the leftist vice president under any conditions. The military chiefs had ordered the armed forces to attack and dominate the pro-Goulart 3rd army in Rio Grande do Sul, but no significant military action was reported.

Cunha Mello, first secretary of the Senate, said in Brasilia a caucus of congressional and party leaders had approved the decision for Goulart's inaugural.

Officials said the plans were made on the assumption that congress would approve by Monday a constitutional amendment creating a parliamentary system in Brazil. Under it Goulart would serve only as a figurehead presi-

Davis' Aid Sought To Halt Gambling

BATON ROUGE (AP)—M. Dan Hogan, president of the Jefferson Parish council, Friday demanded that Gov. Jimmie H. Davis take personal action to stamp out gambling in the parish.

Hogan said he came to Baton Rouge without an appointment to see Davis "because I do not want no for an answer."

But Davis was out of town and aides said he wouldn't return until Tuesday.

Hogan, in an interview in New Orleans before going to the state Capitol, said Jefferson Parish had been put in the national spotlight as a center of corruption.

He said if Davis fails to act he will ask the federal government to step in.

The Senate rackets investigating subcommittee in Washington was told Thursday that appeals to Sheriff John G. Fitzgerald, Dist. Atty. Frank H. Langridge and even to rackets czar Carlos Marcello had failed to bring about supression of gambling.

Hogan said he also attempted to reach Lt. Gov. C. C. Aycock, but that official was also out of town.

"It has been proven that Fitzgerald and Landridge are incapable of doing anything about the situation," said Hogan.

"They have been asked repeatedly by the people, the papers and myself for action in this regard and nothing has been done by them."

"The facts brought out in Washington about Jefferson Parish are disgraceful, but true. It is a shame that the parish is in such a condition that we are used as a horrible example before the rest of the United States."

Hogan said he planned to return to Baton Rouge Tuesday to see Davis.

Atom Bomb In Medium Class Used

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House announced that the Soviet Union set off a medium-size, aboveground nuclear explosion in central Asia Friday.

The announcement of the first known atomic test by a major nuclear power in nearly three years came as no surprise. U.S. authorities had been expecting it any moment since Moscow's declaration two days ago that the Soviet Union would resume testing its nuclear weapons.

EXPLODED IN AIR

The U.S. statement said:

"The Soviet Union today has conducted a nuclear test in the general area of Semipalatinsk in central Asia. The device tested had a substantial yield in the intermediate range. It was detonated in the atmosphere."

In nuclear-weapons terminology, the language "substantial yield in the intermediate range" was described as indicating a blast equivalent to the power of 100,000 to 500,000 tons of TNT, and certainly less than a million tons.

This is far below the mammoth 100,million ton superbomb Soviet Premier Khrushchev has boasted the Soviets can build.

The two U.S. atomic bombs used against Japan—and the only ones yet burst in war—had a TNT-equivalent of 20,000 tons. Present maximum-power American weapons reportedly range from 20-million tons to 25-million tons.

Because the new Soviet device was exploded in the air, rather than underground or in outer space, it is presumed to have caused radio active fallout—small poisonous particles which can harm life if received in large enough doses.

The White House announcement

Girl Breaks Out In Rash Near Boys

LONDON (AP) — As soon as Jane Reeve, 11, a British schoolgirl, gets near a boy, she breaks out in a rash.

But she's been told by educational authorities that in the new term beginning this month, she must attend a coeducational school.

"I've been to a mixed school before," said Jane in a interview at her home," and I didn't like it there.

"I get a rash when I'm around boys. I get it all over my arms, and it's embarrassing," she said.

Jane and her parents want her to attend a girl's school in nearby Luton. School officials rejected the request, saying the school of her choice is already overcrowded. They told her to matriculate a Fairmead a mixed school at surburan Loughton.

Her father, Leslie Reeve, told a reporter, "I dread to think what will happen if she goes to a school where there are boys. She's a nervous child and easily upset. For her health's sake, she should be allowed to go to a school for girls only."

The Reeve family doctor told reporters that Jane would, in his opinion, be better off at a girls-only school.

"The rash," he said, "is definitely due to her being near boys."

Said Jane, "Boys are nasty and horrid."

U.S. Probes Plane Crash Fatal To 78

Officials Seek To Learn Cause Of Fiery Plunge

CHICAGO (AP) — Federal officials quickly began a piece-by-piece check of the wreckage of an airliner Friday in an effort to find out why it carried 78 persons to their death.

All aboard perished in the worst accident in the nation's history involving a single commercial plane.

FBI CHECKING

The Federal Bureau of Investigation dug into the possibility that a bomb might have caused the disaster, although witnesses said there was no explosion in the air.

Melvin N. Gough, director of the Civil Aeronautics Bureau of safety, flew to Chicago to lead an inquiry. His Chicago associates planned a painstaking hunt for the reason why it plunged into a field and broke asunder in the early morning darkness.

The crash wiped out one family of seven and two others of six and five each.

An accept on youth added to the tragedy. The victims—73 passengers and five crew members—included 20 children, 26 women and 32 men.

The Trans World Airlines Constellation plopped into a field and burst into flames in the suburban area 10 miles west of Chicago's Midway Airport.

The plane, flight 529, left Boston at 7:45 p.m. Thursday. It was en route to Los Angeles and had made stops at New York, Pittsburgh and Chicago.

Witnesses said the four-engine plane apparently tried to make an emergency landing. There was no explosion in the air.

But the Federal Bureau of Investigation began checking the possibility that a bomb had been placed aboard.

A special FBI disaster unit and Civil Aeronautics Board officials flew in from Washington to take part in the inquiry.

The Constellation fell and burned at 2:05 a.m. between Clarendon Hills and Hinsdale.

It had just taken off from Mid-

U.S. Charges Two Suspects With Kidnaping

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (AP) A teen-ager and a tattooed transient were charged in federal warrants Friday with kidnaping Margaret Wernicker from her home near Belleville Wednesday night. They also were sought for a double slaying in the same neighborhood that night.

The fate of Miss Wernicker, 39, an Addressograph operator for a St. Louis department store, and the whereabouts of the accused pair still were a mystery.

Charged as abductors were John Edwin Meyers, 32, alias Chuck Carter, and Donna Marie Stone, 13, both former Chicago residents. The FBI said the girl, heavily built and appearing older then her years, had been living with grandparents at nearby Edwardsville until she disappeared Aug. 22.

Two hours after the kidnaping of Miss Wernicker the trussed body of George Ballard, 47, was found on a lakeshore just a few hundred yards from Miss Wernicker's home. The body of his daughter, Carole, 11, was found in the same wooded area Thursday. Both had been shot once through the head with a 22-caliber weapon.

INAUGURAL PLANS MADE

Goulart Returns To Brazil Home

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Vice President Joao Goulart returned to the friendly soil of South Brazil Friday night and was proclaimed President by his followers the moment his plane landed at Porto Alegre.

Opposition to him still seethed among military leaders in north Brazil.

But some congressional leaders at Brazilia made plans for an inaugural to install his Monday afternoon — with perhaps less than full powers.

Goulart flew from Montevideo, Uruguay, to the capital of his home state of Rio Grande do Sul after days of hesitation over how and when he should claim the presidency vacated last week by Janio Quadros.

GETS CHEERS

While thousands cheered Goulart at Porto Alegre, congressional leaders in Brasilia announced their plans for the inaugural at 1 p.m. Monday.

There was no immediate indication that he would accept curtailed powers.

The nation's military chiefs stuck to their refusal to accept the leftist vice president under any conditions. The military chiefs had ordered the armed forces to attack and dominate the pro-Goulart 3rd army in Rio Grande do Sul, but no significant military action was reported.

Cunha Mello, first secretary of the Senate, said in Brasilia a caucus of congressional and party leaders had approved the decision for Goulart's inaugural.

Officials said the plans were made on the assumption that congress would approve by Monday a constitutional amendment creating a parliamentary system in Brazil. Under it Goulart would serve only as a figurehead presi-

IN JEFFERSON PARISH

Davis' Aid Sought To Halt Gambling

BATON ROUGE (AP)—M. Dan Hogan, president of the Jefferson Parish council, Friday demanded that Gov. Jimmie H. Davis take personal action to stamp out gambling in the parish.

Hogan said he came to Baton Rouge without an appointment to see Davis "because I do not want no for an answer."

But Davis was out of town and aides said he wouldn't return until Tuesday.

Hogan, in an interview in New Orleans before going to the state Capitol, said Jefferson Parish had been put in the national spotlight as a center of corruption.

He said if Davis fails to act he will ask the federal government to step in.

The Senate rackets investigating subcommittee in Washington was told Thursday that appeals to Sheriff John G. Fitzgerald, Dist. Atty. Frank H. Langridge and even to rackets czar Carlos Marcello had failed to bring about supression of gambling.

Hogan said he also attempted to reach Lt. Gov. C. C. Aycock, but that official was also out of town.

"It has been proven that Fitzgerald and Landridge are incapable of doing anything about the situation," said Hogan.

"They have been asked repeatedly by the people, the papers and myself for action in this regard and nothing has been done by them."

"The facts brought out in Washington about Jefferson Parish are disgraceful, but true. It is a shame that the parish is in such a condition that we are used as a horrible example before the rest of the United States."

Hogan said he planned to return to Baton Rouge Tuesday to see Davis.

Atom Bomb In Medium Class Used

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House announced that the Soviet Union set off a medium-size, above-ground nuclear explosion in central Asia Friday.

The announcement of the first known atomic test by a major nuclear power in nearly three years came as no surprise. U.S. authorities had been expecting it any moment since Moscow's declaration two days ago that the Soviet Union would resume testing its nuclear weapons.

EXPLODED IN AIR

The U.S. statement said:

"The Soviet Union today has conducted a nuclear test in the general area of Semipalatinsk in central Asia. The device tested had a substantial yield in the intermediate range. It was detonated in the atmosphere."

In nuclear-weapons terminology, the language "substantial yield in the intermediate range" was described as indicating a blast equivalent to the power of 100,000 to 500,000 tons of TNT, and certainly less than a million tons.

This is far below the mammoth 100,million ton superbomb Soviet Premier Khrushchev has boasted the Soviets can build.

The two U.S. atomic bombs used against Japan—and the only ones yet burst in war—had a TNT-equivalent of 20,000 tons. Present maximum-power American weapons reportedly range from 20-million tons to 25-million tons.

Because the new Soviet device was exploded in the air, rather than underground or in outer space, it is presumed to have caused radio active fallout—small poisonous particles which can harm life if received in large enough doses.

Girl Breaks Out In Rash Near Boys

LONDON (AP) — As soon as Jane Reeve, 11, a British schoolgirl, gets near a boy, she breaks out in a rash.

But she's been told by educational authorities that in the new term beginning this month, she must attend a coeducational school.

"I've been to a mixed school before," said Jane in a interview at her home," and I didn't like it there.

"I get a rash when I'm around boys. I get it all over my arms, and it's embarrassing," she said.

Jane and her parents want her to attend a girl's school in nearby Luton. School officials rejected the request, saying the school of her choice is already overcrowded They told her to matriculate a Fairmead a mixed school at surburan Loughton.

Her father, Leslie Reeve, told a reporter, "I dread to think what will happen if she goes to a school where there are boys. She's a nervous child and easily upset. For her health's sake, she should be allowed to go to a school for girls only."

The Reeve family doctor told reporters that Jane would, in his opinion, be better off at a girls-only school.

"The rash," he said, "is definitely due to her being near boys."

Said Jane, "Boys are nasty and horrid."

U.S. Probes Plane Crash Fatal To 78

... and normally would have followed a southwesterly course. But when it fell, it was headed due north, indicating the pilot may have intended to return to the airport on Chicago's southwest side.

One part, and then another, of the tail dropped. Then the big airliner dug into the earth and disintegrated.

The dead and debris—a baby bonnet, bathrobe, shower clogs and broken suitcases—scattered over an area ¼ mile wide and ¾ miles long.

Josephine Broz, who lives in one of the five homes narrowly cleared by the Constellation, said, "The plane hit the ground and bounced several times. We could see the wheels, the wings, everything falling apart."

The crash spewed flaming oil on the Broz house, scoring one side and melting the nylon screens on the windows.

Charles C. George Jr., peered out a window and saw the dark form of the plane skim over two trees.

"The next thing I saw," he said, "was a huge sheet of flame as the plane hit the ground."

Thus ended vacation and labor day holiday trips.

Harry Savage of Pittsburgh, assistant district attorney of Allegheny County, Pa., spoke of the carefree mood of the passengers. Savage, who left the plane in Chicago, related, "There were a lot of little kids running around, a lot of young people on the way to Las Vegas and Los Angeles for vacations."

Savage said he had heard an unfamiliar grinding noise when the plane lifted away from Pittsburgh. When he woke from a nap near Chicago, he added, the aircraft "shook rather violently."

The search for the cause of the crash began quickly. CAB officials planned to assemble the pieces of wreckage in a hangar.

Thunderstorms had raked the Chicago area shortly before the crash.

Ambulances and hearses rolled up to the Cook County morgue on Chicago's West Side with bodies wrapped in rubber sheets.

James Clark, deputy coroner of Du Page County—where the plane fell—said the bodies would be taken to the Westmont Fire Station after they are examined. Relatives can claim them in the improvised morgue in Westmont.

The first study of the bodies, physicians reported, didn't show any signs of an explosion. The injuries were similar to those of automobile accident victims, the physicians said.

Atom Bomb In Medium Class Used

... came soon after Arthur H. Dean, U.S. ambassador to the all but collapsed Geneva test ban talks, conferred with President Kennedy and other high officials. Kennedy had summoned Dean home immediately after Wednesday's Soviet announcement.

Leaving the White House, Dean read a statement in which he said resumption of nuclear testing shows clearly that the Soviet Union intends to rest its future policy on the terrorization of humanity."

Dean added that Moscow "underestimates the people of the world if it thinks they will capitulate to a strategy of blackmail and terror."

Kennedy spent long hours in strategy sessions also with John J. McCloy, U.S. disarmament adviser, and Secretary of State Dean Rusk among others.

Kennedy did not supplement the brief statement on the Soviet test. The White House remained silent on any U.S. plans to resume its nuclear testing.

There has been heavy Congressional pressure for immediate resumption. But the administration apparently is biding its time in the hope the Soviets ending of the informal test ban will build strong world reaction.

High authorities said Kennedy would have no choice but to resume U.S. testing as the Soviets go ahead with their explosions. Like the Soviets the United States has been under a self-imposed moratorium on testing since the Geneva talks began in November, 1958.

For the time being, however, U.S. policy was to hold off its own testing while reaping what propaganda from worldwide shock at the Soviet action.

Informed sources reported also that Kennedy intended to go ahead with sounding out the Soviets on prospects for settlement of major issues like Berlin and disarmament even though prospects were not bright.

The first of the projected U.S.-Soviet contacts is due next Wednesday. McCloy said he still planned to meet in New York, as scheduled, with Valerian Zorin, Soviet ambassador to the United Nations.

McCloy and Zorin have been holding private talks this summer in Moscow and Washington, aimed at setting up a multination general disarmament conference. They have made practically no progress so far.

Washington speculation as to the reason for Moscow's resumption of tests generally split into two schools.

One was that the Soviets acted from weakness after finding their atomic arsenal insufficient. The other is that they acted from strength trying to bulldoze the rest of the world into kowtowing to Red demands.

In either case, the development was viewed as ominous. Those holding the weakness theory saw Moscow's action as a panicky reflex which heightened dangers of Soviet miscalculation over Berlin. The other school saw the Soviet action as a deliberate terror tactic in flaunting world opinion showing the lengths to which Khrushchev is determined to go to get Berlin.

back to his truck after the parade.

A witness said the stockinged equestrian was traveling on the left shoulder of the street west and the death truck was traveling east, driven by Jessie Lee Perkins, 40 of 3275 South McGuire St., Monroe.

Suddenly the horse shied just as the approaching truck reached her and leaped into the street directly in the vehicle's path. The horse was killed and its rider thrown.

Nolan, the father of one daughter, was rushed to the hospital by Kilpatrick's ambulance where his condition was undetermined last night. However, members of the family said he possibly had a concussion according to the doctor, and had lacerations but suffered no broken bones.

Kennedy Forces Launch Fight As Aid Fund Sliced

greatly increase existing risks to the political and military position of the free world in the face of the Sino-Soviet threat."

They said the cut struck "clearly and directly" at vital U.S. national interests.

In a statement issued by his Gettysburg, Pa. office, Eisenhower said, "These slashes are incomprehensible to me, especially in light of present world tensions." He said the cuts appeared to strike hardest at military aid.

"I am sure that the large majority of thinking American citizens, Democrats and Republicans alike, would join me in urging vigorous support of efforts to remedy the damage that would result from these reported committee recommendations," Eisenhower said.

The money bill cut was Kennedy's second foreign aid setback.

The authorization measure granted his request for authority to make overseas development loans over the next five years. But it required him to seek the money from Congress each year rather than borrowing it through the Treasury.

The full House and Senate will have a chance to restore the committee cuts in the money bill or make deeper slashes. The House is scheduled to take up the measure next Tuesday.

In its report to the House, the committee said some members felt foreign aid outlays should be curtailed as much as possible "until such time as the Congress has a more definite knowledge of the ultimate need for funds and resources for our own security and welfare."

It said this view was based on the current tense international atmosphere and the fact the United States may have to continue foreign aid for perhaps 30 years.

Goulart Returns To Brazil Home

dent, with a prime minister making decisions.

Senate President Moura Andrade told a night session of the senate that Goulart had agreed to the constitutional change. His statement could not be immediately confirmed.

Goulart's brother-in-law, Gov. Leonel Brizzola of Rio Grande do Sul, said in a broadcast, "I am appealing to the congress and to the military forces to show we are a sovereign nation, a free people through support of the constitution."

He lashed out at what he called vain military leaders "who would lead our country to the horrors of a civil war."

The war ministry responded by accusing Brizzola of "creating a grave climate of agitation and subversion" in Rio Grande do Sul, and vowed to crush it.

The three military ministers—Marshal Odylio Denys, Vice Adm. Silvio Heck of the navy and Brig. Gen. Gabriel Grum Moss of the air force—have opposed Goulart's succession to the presidency from the start.

Major military opposition to the armed chiefs came from the pro-goulart 3rd army in Rio Grande do Sul. Army commanders there and in other parts of south Brazil declared they were ready to repulse attack from the north.

A broadcast from Porto Alegre, capital of Rio Grande do Sul, declared the city would be proclaimed as Brazil's new capital if Goulart is blocked from taking over the presidency in Brasilia.

The broadcast said both the 2nd and 4th Armies had joined the 3rd Army as "the forces of legality and defenders of the constitution" against the military chiefs.

The radio station said the only military action in the area during the day was a flight of air force planes which dropped leaflets urging residents to rebel against the 3rd Army.

In Curitiba, capital of the southern state of Parana, the commander of the 5th Military Zone said his troops were ready to move into position "to stop any (anti-Goulart) armed forces coming from the north to start a fight inside this state."

Gen. Benjamin Galhardo added in a communique that the armed forces have only one choice in the crisis—"support of the constitution."

The military chiefs have the backing of a solid bloc of anti-Communist, anti-leftist politicians.

bus companies to provide segregated facilities for all Negro passengers whether traveling between states or within the state.

It charged that the law violates the equal protection of the laws provision of the Constitution and the Interstate Commerce Act.

Justice Department official said that the suit was an attempt "to resolve a conflict between state and federal law in which Greyhound has been caught in the middle."

U.S. Probes Plane Crash Fatal To 78

way and normally would have followed a southwesterly course. But when it fell, it was headed due north, indicating the pilot may have intended to return to the airport on Chicago's southwest side.

One part, and then another, of the tail dropped. Then the big airliner dug into the earth and disintegrated.

The dead and debris—a baby bonnet, bathrobe, shower clogs and broken suitcases—scattered over an area ¼ mile wide and ¾ miles long.

Josephine Broz, who lives in one of the five homes narrowly cleared by the Constellation, said, "The plane hit the ground and bounced several times. We could see the wheels, the wings, everything falling apart."

The crash spewed flaming oil on the Broz house, scoring one side and melting the nylon screens on the windows.

Charles C. George Jr., peered out a window and saw the dark form of the plane skim over two trees.

"The next thing I saw," he said, "was a huge sheet of flame as the plane hit the ground."

Thus ended vacation and labor day holiday trips.

Harry Savage of Pittsburgh, assistant district attorney of Allegheny County, Pa., spoke of the carefree mood of the passengers. Savage, who left the plane in Chicago, related, "There were a lot of little kids running around, a lot of young people on the way to Las Vegas and Los Angeles for vacations."

Savage said he had heard an unfamiliar grinding noise when the plane lifted away from Pittsburgh. When he woke from a nap near Chicago, he added, the aircraft "shook rather violently."

The search for the cause of the crash began quickly. CAB officials planned to assemble the pieces of wreckage in a hangar.

Thunderstorms had raked the Chicago area shortly before the crash.

Ambulances and hearses rolled up to the Cook County morgue on Chicago's West Side with bodies wrapped in rubber sheets.

James Clark, deputy coroner of Du Page County—where the plane fell—said the bodies would be taken to the Westmont Fire Station after they are examined. Relatives can claim them in the improvised morgue in Westmont.

The first study of the bodies, physicians reported, didn't show any signs of an explosion. The injuries were similar to those of automobile accident victims, the physicians said.

Atom Bomb In Medium Class Used

came soon after Arthur H. Dean, U.S. ambassador to the all but collapsed Geneva test-ban talks, conferred with President Kennedy and other high officials. Kennedy had summoned Dean home immediately after Wednesday's Soviet announcement.

Leaving the White House, Dean read a statement in which he said resumption of nuclear testing shows clearly that the Soviet Union intends "to rest its future policy on the terrorization of humanity."

Dean added that Moscow "underestimates the people of the world if it thinks they will capitulate to a strategy of blackmail and terror."

Kennedy spent long hours in strategy sessions also with John J. McCloy, U.S. disarmament administrator and Secretary of State Dean Rusk among others.

Kennedy did not supplement the brief statement on the Soviet test. The White House remained silent on any U.S. plans to resume its nuclear testing.

There has been heavy Congressional pressure for immediate resumption. But the administration apparently is biding its time in the hope the Soviets ending of the informal test ban will build strong world reaction.

High authorities said Kennedy would have no choice but to resume U.S. testing as the Soviets push ahead with their explosions. Like the Soviets, the United States has been under a self-imposed moratorium on testing since the Geneva talks began in November, 1958.

For the time being, however, U.S. policy was to hold off its own testing while reaping what propaganda from worldwide shock at the Soviet action.

Informed sources reported also that Kennedy intended to go ahead with sounding out the Soviets on prospects for settlement of major issues like Berlin and disarmament even though prospects were not bright.

The first of the projected U.S.-Soviet contacts is due next Wednesday. McCloy said he still planned to meet in New York, as scheduled, with Valerian Zorin, Soviet ambassador to the United Nations.

McCloy and Zorin have been holding private talks this summer in Moscow and Washington, aimed at setting up a multination general disarmament conference. They have made practically no progress so far.

Washington speculation as to the reason for Moscow's resumption of tests generally split into two schools.

One was that the Soviets acted from weakness after finding their atomic arsenal insufficient. The other is that they acted from strength trying to bulldoze the rest of the world into kowtowing to Red demands.

In either case, the development was viewed as ominous. Those holding the weakness theory saw Moscow's action as a panicky reflex which heightened dangers of Soviet miscalculation over Berlin. The other school saw the Soviet action as a deliberate terror tactic in flaunting world opinion showing the lengths to which Khrushchev is determined to go to get Berlin.

A witness said the stockinged equestrian was traveling on the left shoulder of the street west and the death truck was traveling east, driven by Jessie Lee Perkins, 40 of 3275 South McGuire St., Monroe.

Suddenly the horse shied just as the approaching truck reached her and leaped into the street directly in the vehicle's path. The horse was killed and its rider thrown.

Nolan, the father of one daughter, was rushed to the hospital by Kilpatrick's ambulance where his condition was undetermined last night. However, members of the family said he possibly had a concussion according to the doctor, and had lacerations but suffered no broken bones.

FERRY SERVICE

Group Endorses Tensas Project

FERRIDAY (Special)— Efforts to establish ferry service between Tensas Parish and Claibourne County, Miss., have been endorsed by the joint legislative tourist committee after the committees studied reports at a meeting in St. Joseph.

It was indicated that the ferry would bring additional thousands of tourists into the scenic north east Louisiana area each year.

State Sen. Sylvan Friedman, chairman of the committee, said his group will confer soon with the Mississippi Highway Department in an effort to expedite construction of a 12-mile highway running from the Natchez Trace on the Mississippi side to the proposed ferry docks.

District Attorney Thompson Clarke of St. Joseph, head of the parish committee working on the project, said the group had already reached agreement with a private ferry operator who is willing to establish river service at no cost to either state.

"This ferry would bring Jackson, McComb, and other Mississippi cities within 50 miles of the great Tensas hunting and fishing area," Clarke said, "and would give the people of northeast Louisiana easier access to Mississippi".

At the present time, Mississippi sportsmen bound for the Tensas area must cross into Louisiana either at Tallulah or Natchez. Clarke said that ferry service which would terminate on the Louisiana side some three miles from St. Joseph, would trim off more than 75 miles of travel for visitors from central Mississippi.

Senator Friedman said the legislative tourist committee will also confer with Tensas Parish mayors concerning plans for access routes to the Louisiana ferry terminal.

Members of the committee are Sen. Sylvan Friedman, Natchez, La., Sen. J. C. Gilbert, Gilbert-Sicily Island; Sen. Lee Firmin, Franklin; Rep. James M. Brown, Lake Charles; Rep. Jesse McClain, Covington; Rep. Bert Adams, Leesville; Rep. J. Carroll Seaman, Waterproof; Rep. Thomas Jewell, speaker of the House, New Roads, and Lt. Gov. C. C. "Taddy" Aycock.

Shrine Club West Monroe Rodeo Starts

"Thrills and spills aplenty" was the judgment of many observers Friday night as the annual Northeast Lousiana Shrine Club Rodeo opened a four-show stand at the West Monroe Riding Club Arena before an estimated 7,700 fans.

Looking on as initial events began to form an early championship picture in the quest to find this year's all-round cowboy and cowgirl, spectators reportedly watched some of the nation's top rodeo performers take their lumps. Many in the bare-back and saddle bronc riding divisions of the show failed to qualify (were bucked off), which rodeo officials called good testimony of the spirit of the stock. The same held true, they said, in brahma bull riding.

Leading the field in the bull riding, at the end of the first performance was last year's all round cowboy, Dilton Emerson of Taylor, Ark., with 170 points. West Monroe's own Freddie Ford trails narrowly with 168, and Bruce Odom of Alexandria wound up with 162.

As in all the events, Friday's performers will get another shot at bettering their makrs after a second wave of contestants come into the arena tonight, also at 8 p.m. Sunday's show is set for 2:30 p.m. and the final performance on Monday will repeat at 8 p.m.

Judging on riding events, announcer Tom Hadley declared, is on the basis of 1 to 20 points on the man's performance and from 65 to 85 on the animal's spirit and behavior.

ALL EVENTS

Here is a rundown on last night's showing in all events. Out of 26 contestants registered for bare-back bronk riding, Hump Williams of Iredell, Tex., and H. B. Johnson of Horatio, Ark., deadlocked for the lead with an identical 176 points. Third was Clyde Galey of Leesville who scored 156. Others last night bit the dust.

In calf roping, Billy Leach of Kilgore, Tex., went ahead by snaring his maverick in a flat 13 seconds. Shreveport's Leroy Huckabee got his in 14.5 and Charlie Martin of Montgomery, Ala., brought up third at 15.1 seconds.

In the cowgirls' barrel race, seven times world champion Billie McBride of San Angelo, Tex., set the pace by galloping the course in 17.5 seconds, followed by Rayville's Virginia Tolar with 18.2. Third place went to a West Monroe girl, Carolyn Cordell at 1.9 seconds. There will be 15 contestants overall.

Out of 16 saddle bronc riders, only Ben Bogan of Beaumont, Tex., and George Warren of West Monroe were not unseated. They scored 170 and 164 points, respectively.

Jake Hickox led the steer wrestlers by "throwing the bull" in seven seconds. He is from Lawton, Okla. Second and third sopts went to H. R. Williams of Baton Rouge with 10 seconds and Alexandria's Paul Ryder with 12.6. The three were all that remained of 14 contestants on the field Friday. The rest disqualified. Twenty-three cowboys will compete overall.

Police Probing Camera Theft, House Burglary

Monroe police are investigating the theft of a camera and a house burglary that were reported to them late yesterday.

William Ober of 1213 Sunshine Dr., told officers that a 35 M.M. Salimas colored camera valued at $109 has been missing from his motorcycle saddlebags since Aug. 21. The serial number on the camera was RZ5001 in it was enclosed in a brown leather case.

Also under investigation is the burglary of a house at 102 Eighth Street in Monroe in which a billfold and wristwatch were taken.

The burglary was reported by Negro Jessie Mae Hood who told officers the incident took place between midnight Thursday and 1 a.m. Friday. The woman told officers she heard a noise in her dining room.

When she called out to whoever it was, they ran. Later she found the tan billfold and a 17-jewel shockproof ladies watch had been taken from her purse. The silver watch was valued at approximately $50.

Shrine Club West Monroe Rodeo Starts

"Thrills and spills aplenty" was the judgment of many observers Friday night as the annual Northeast Lousiana Shrine Club Rodeo opened a four-show stand at the West Monroe Riding Club Arena before an estimated 7,700 fans.

Looking on as initial events began to form an early championship picture in the quest to find this year's all-round cowboy and cowgirl, spectators reportedly watched some of the nation's top rodeo performers take their lumps. Many in the bare-back and saddle bronc riding divisions of the show failed to qualify (were bucked off), which rodeo officials called good testimony of the spirit of the stock. The same held true, they said, in brahma bull riding.

Leading the field in the bull riding, at the end of the first performance, was last year's all-round cowboy, Dilton Emerson of Taylor, Ark., with 170 points. West Monroe's own Freddie Ford trails narrowly with 163, and Bruce Odom of Alexandria wound up with 162.

As in all the events, Friday's performers will get another shot at bettering their makrs after a second wave of contestants come into the arena tonight, also at 8 p.m. Sunday's show is set for 2:30 p.m. and the final performance on Monday will repeat at 8 p.m.

Judging on riding events, announcer Tom Hadley declared, is on the basis of 1 to 20 points on the man's performance and from 65 to 85 on the animal's spirit and behavior..

ALL EVENTS

Here is a rundown on last night's showing in all events: Out of 26 contestants registered for bare-back bronk riding, Hump Williams of Iredell, Tex., and H. B. Johnson of Horatio, Ark., deadlocked for the lead with an identical 176 points. Third was Clyde Galey of Leesville who scored 156. Others last night bit the dust.

In calf roping, Billy Leach of Kilgore, Tex., went ahead by snaring his maverick in a flat 13 seconds. Shreveport's Leroy Huckabee got his in 14.5 and Charlie Martin of Montgomery, Ala., brought up third at 151 seconds.

In the cowgirls' barrel race, seven times world champion Billie McBride of San Angelo, Tex., set the pace by galloping the course in 17.5 seconds, followed by Rayville's Virginia Tolar with 18.2. Third place went to a West Monroe girl, Carolyn Cordell at 1.9 seconds. There will be 15 contestants overall.

Out of 16 saddle bronc riders, only Ben Bogan of Beaumont, Tex., and George Warren of West Monroe were not unseated. They scored 170 and 164 points, respectively.

Jake Hickox led the steer wrestlers by "throwing the bull" in seven seconds. He is from Lawton, Okla. Second and third sopts went to H. R. Williams of Baton Rouge with 10 seconds and Alexandria's Paul Ryder with 12.6. The three were all that remained of 14 contestants on the field Friday. The rest disqualified. Twenty-three cowboys will compete overall.

Police Probing Camera Theft, House Burglary

Monroe police are investigating the theft of a camera and a house burglary that were reported to them late yesterday.

William Ober of 1213 Sunshine Dr., told officers that a 35 M.M. Salimas colored camera valued at $109 has been missing from his motorcycle saddlebags since Aug. 21. The serial number on the camera was RZ5001 in it was enclosed in a brown leather case.

Also under investigation is the burglary of a house at 102 Eighth Street in Monroe in which a billfold and wristwatch were taken.

The burglary was reported by Negro Jessie Mae Hood who told officers the incident took place between midnight Thursday and 1 a.m. Friday. The woman told officers she heard a noise in her dining room.

When she called out to whoever it was, they ran. Later she found the tan billfold and a 17-jewel shockproof ladies watch had been taken from her purse. The silver watch was valued at approximately $50.

JFK's Stunning Defeat

"President Kennedy suffered one of the most stunning defeats of this session of congress . . . when the house voted against consideration of his aid-to-education bill, even though it was a whittled - down compromise."

That statement by the Associated Press could have been reversed to say that the forces fighting for free schools in America won the greatest victory that has been won in this session of congress by those fighting against government usurpation of states' rights and against federal control of the lives of all citizens in the United States. Regardless of the various reasons for defeat of the measure, the result means that for the time at least our schools will not be placed under federal control, nor brain-washed by the leftist, socialistic ideas of the present regime. For another year at least our schools will remain free.

Defeat of this measure also [illegible] the coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats working almost to perfection. It was an illustration of what can be done to defeat the northern radical-liberals of the Democratic party when these two forces combine their strength.

Republicans and southern Democrats formed the bulk of the group that overwhelmed the [illegible] supporters, 242 to 169. Only six Republicans [illegible] while 82 [illegible] voted against it.

[illegible] ended all chances at this session for the administration to establish the principle of federal aid for public school construction. This was the sole proposal remaining in the bill and the one that stuck in the throats of the conservatives.

The original program called for $2.5 billion for public schools, both for construction and salaries. All that remained in the defeated compromise was a $325-million, one-year construction program for the school districts [illegible] need [illegible]. Also [illegible] proposed [illegible] college [illegible] bill.

The senate, which has been woefully guilty this session of swallowing the president's program, hook, line and sinker, without regard to preserving the nation's free enterprise and free school system, earlier had passed a bill containing almost everything the president asked.

In another [illegible] demonstration during the present session, the senate also passed a measure [illegible] treasury borrowing for foreign aid thus taking the matter of appropriations for this purpose out of the hands of congress and also voted almost the entire amount of funds for foreign aid asked by President Kennedy. In that case, the more conservative house, which is more responsive to the moods of the people of this country, forced elimination of the treasury - borrowing provision and cut the amount provided for foreign aid.

After the senate had passed the school aid bill in the form sought by the president, the measure ran aground in the house rules committee, which controls the flow of bills to the floor, when the religious issue became involved.

Representative James J. Delaney, D-N.Y., a Catholic and one of the new members of the committee, which had been enlarged to end its conservative control, voted with the conservatives to block the school program. Delaney contended that parochial schools were being discriminated against while general aid was provided for public schools.

What was almost the final compromise was put together two weeks ago by Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff, a confirmed leftist and proponent of federal control of all activities, but even that was pared down [illegible] cleared the [illegible] house education committee.

[illegible] the [illegible] Negro Congressman Adam Clayton Powell [illegible] charges of income tax [illegible] the [illegible] procedure [illegible] rules committee.

As soon as Powell called up the bill, the question of whether the house should consider it was raised and a roll call vote was forced. It was soon evident that the administration's school aid compromise was [illegible] even before [illegible] amendments could be [illegible].

[illegible] parochial schools played some part in the defeat of President Kennedy's plan for federal control of public schools, the coalition of southern conservatives and Republicans appeared to be strong enough to defeat the measure even without that assistance.

This [illegible] of federal control moves could soon put the United States firmly back on the path of democracy and states' rights mapped out by the founders of our nation.

Migration, Segregation

While some actions of the various Citizens Councils, organized to fight racial integration, may not meet with universal approval, there seems little doubt that one suggestion made by the Citizens Councils of America is based on logical reasoning.

Meeting in New Orleans, this group, which serves as a coordinating body for Citizens Council groups in the south and for similar organizations in other states, endorsed a proposal for the migration of Negroes to the north as a means of changing the northern attitude toward segregation. It said:

"One million more Negroes in New York or Chicago will provide the south with an argument far more powerful than mere words."

New York and Chicago already have been flooded with Negro migrations. In New York City, where the Negro population formerly was extremely low, some of the formerly almost white boroughs, such as Manhattan, are now said to have combined populations of Negroes and Puerto Ricans which exceed the white population. The increase of Negroes in Chicago has been disturbing.

One thing that the Citizens Council of America may have failed to consider is that most of the white residents of Chicago and New York are already opposed to integration and are resisting it with all their power. When this fails, they move to areas [illegible] yet touched by Negroes.

Our principal trouble, insofar as integration and segregation are concerned, is that the vote-hungry politicians and the crusading United States supreme court are forcing upon the citizens of the north, as well as the south, a situation they do not want.

There is a possibility that if the migration of Negroes to the north becomes great enough the citizens of those states may join the south in a protest so strong that it cannot be ignored by congressmen seeking re-election.

David Lowrence writes, in U.S. News & World Report: "If . . . the Soviet Premier does miscalculate the resourcefulness and determination of the free West, he should not fail to take into account the basic antipathy toward war which the Russian people feel today. No dictator in Russia can count on historic 'patriotism' to protect him in his folly. For the Russian people, even in the midst of World War I, rebelled and made a separate peace with the enemy . . . As we trace the Khrushchev policies to the consequences that will inevitably follow any of his miscalculations, the West today has but one course to pursue. It is to prepare for war and to do so with a sincere hope and prayer that a conflict will be averted."

Accidental War Danger Seen

This Possibility Is Behind President Kennedy's Surprise Move For East-West Conference On Berlin

[illegible]

[illegible] the president [illegible]. Negotiations now would permit [illegible] to pull back from the [illegible] with a conference [illegible] Khrushchev [illegible] efforts to avoid [illegible] that might [illegible].

[illegible] the danger [illegible] East Germany [illegible] [illegible] would set off [illegible] could easily [illegible] a major east-west conflict.

He said it was the joint chiefs of staff judgment that the Soviets would move in tanks and troops to put down any uprising as they did in June 1953, and that the West Germans would counter that Communist move by sending armed units to help out their East German relatives.

"If that is a correct estimate of the situation the fat would be in the fire," warned the president. "It would be almost impossible to keep that situation from exploding into a nuclear war."

The President made one other [illegible] very clear to the legislators. In pushing for immediate talks with the Soviets, he said Rusk had instructions to make the Russians understand that western right of access to Berlin was not negotiable.

It was also the sense of discussions that Secretary Rusk and his top aides had recently when they dined at the Canadian Embassy with Ambassador Arnold Heeney.

At the dinner with Rusk were McGeorge Bundy, the president's principal adviser on foreign affairs; Foy Kohler, assistant secretary of state for European affairs, and Charles Bohlen, special assistant to Rusk on Soviet affairs. They are the chief architects of the administration's policy on Berlin.

They assured the Canadian ambassador that the U. S. did not expect Khrushchev to start a war over Berlin. Also, that the U. S. is taking every step possible to avoid an incident that might touch off a nuclear holocaust.

Note: The U. S. will soon move in the United Nations to demand Russia furnish detailed evidence of what precautions she's taking against accidental nuclear war. Plan is to emphasize elaborate U. S. precautions and safeguards. Ambassador Stevenson will ask that UN teams inspect Russian safety systems.

SELLING AMERICA OVERSEAS — The Commerce Department is now setting out on a search for foreigners who want to own a share of America.

A new office of Investment, in existence less than two months, will encourage foreigners to make long term investments in U.S. firms. In the past this kind of promotion was only an incidental part of other departmental work.

The new agency will seek U.S. companies interested in foreign investors. It will then assemble data on each company's business, plant, equipment, products, labor force, and locality.

These profiles will be handed over to the State Department's commercial representatives abroad, who will then look up potential investors and sell them on the idea of buying into American companies.

As a starter, the office of investment will soon begin gathering information on capital needs in some of the U. S. labor surplus areas. They hope to enlist foreigners to set up joint ventures in these areas with U. S. investors.

Although the agency has just started to work, it has hopes of developing a list of investment opportunities before the end of 1961.

U. S. companies interested in getting on this list may contact the Office of Investment, Bureau of Foreign Commerce, Commerce Department, or write this column.

MORE ON BERLIN — Senator Hubert Humphrey, D., Minn., reports that western diplomats believe Russia cannot risk pushing the Berlin crisis too far because of serious internal weaknesses in the Soviet bloc. He cites a State Department report that, for the second year in a row, the Soviet harvest is in serious difficulty. It comes at a time when food is critically short in almost all parts of the Communist empire . . . Another example of Soviet troubles is revealed in an intelligence report that states an entire organization of "Free German Youth" was dissolved at a hydraulic plant near Halle in the Soviet Zone of East Germany because of the refusal of its members to volunteer for army service. Officers of the group were arrested.

Sun Worshippers

Hazards Resulting From Chronic Exposure To Sunlight

[illegible] After breast [illegible] my son I [illegible] I have tried exercises of all kinds but to no [illegible] could possibly help? [illegible] I would like to remedy this. I have also thought of breast surgery [illegible] What do you think?" Sincerely, Mrs. X. [illegible]

Comment: I know of no treatment [illegible] that I would advise. What can I say except "throw away the tape measure"? I know many readers will think this is heartless advice to a woman who seems so upset. But what else can I do? Blunt or not, these are my sentiments. I have just left a patient suffering from terminal cancer. I guess that's the reason for my seeming impatience with Mrs. X's complaint.

Many readers would like to know if too much sun is bad. I always advise sun worshippers to try to take it in moderation. For example, here are some words by Dr. James M. Knox writing in Medical Times:

"Few people are aware of the hazards resulting from chronic exposure to sunlight. Fashionable women, who regard a deep brown suntan as essential, should be informed that sun can cause premature aging." Prolonged exposure can cause "a dry, coarse and leathery appearance of the skin, pigmentary changes, and wrinkling." Better intersperse sun with some shade of the old apple tree.

Writes Mrs. D.: I am deeply concerned about my husband who has gouty arthritis. His attacks are becoming more severe. He has had them in the ankle and knee, left hand and arm, and last week, in the right hand. He has taken colchicine, which helps for a while, then the attacks recur. I will appreciate any suggestions.

Comment: First, I must assume that the diagnosis is correct. Probably your husband has high blood uric acid readings; and X-rays may show some typical gouty changes in his joints. The only special diet of value that I know of is that he cut down on fats, especially. Some people also seem to be helped when they stop drinking liquor, tea and coffee.

It is important not to be overweight. Moderate exertion may be all right, but overexertion often brings on attacks. As for the treatment of the attack itself, gout requires rest and comfort to the affected joint. [illegible] the attack. [illegible] of course about the fact that the [illegible] may caused diarrhea and [illegible] which soon disappear.

[illegible] there are other medicines that are quite helpful. Your doctor will use them as necessary. Butazolidin, Benemid, and Cortisone derivatives are often helpful during and between attacks to lessen their frequency.

Be thankful at least that your doctor has made the correct diagnosis. Otherwise your husband [illegible] taking aspirin or something else for "rheumatism." Unless we doctors diagnose gout early, the patient doesn't stand a chance. He goes on suffering unnecessarily.

"Oh, my aching back!" A friend of mine has one, but refuses to go to a doctor. He has spent hundreds of dollars in buying special shoes and arch supports, special exercise machines, special braces. He spends thirty dollars a week for "special massages."

"Why don't you see a good orthopedist?" I asked.

"Too expensive," he answers. When I suggest he's scared to go, he pooh-poohs the idea. But I'll wager that's the reason. Many people suffer needlessly because they are afraid of doctors.

GEORGE SOKOLSKY

Conservative Rise

Year 1961 Will Go Down In Campus History As Time Of Revolt

The year 1961 will go down in American campus history as the conservative revolt. During the 1930's the Communists captured various students' organizations over which they held pretty tight control until 1939 when the Hitler-Stalin Alliance shamed many who had joined Communist front groups not because they accepted Marxist doctrine but because they hated Hitler and the Nazi.

The war came and college organizations were captured by so-called Liberals, that is by those who could see both sides of a question and favored one side mildly but not obstinately. The Liberals have been, by the very nature of their ideas, opportunistic, reaching conclusions without regard to basic philosophy.

The 1961 United States National Students Convention, meeting at Madison, Wisconsin, found itself confronted by a Committee for a Responsible National Student Organization, a conservative group, closely affiliated with the Young Americans for Freedom. Led by Howard Phillips, recently president of the Harvard Student Council, Leftists and Liberals have encountered capable organization and articulate conservative thought. The National Student Association claims to represent 1,300,000 American students. The reason for attempting to gain control of the National Student Association is explained as follows:

"We are attempting to rehabilitate the present structure of N.S.A., rather than at first make a fresh start, because N.S.A. exists as the semi-official, self-avowed, and unchallenged national union of students for the United States of America. It claims to speak for the American student at important international student meetings; it receives the informal cooperation of the United States government; it has considerable strength and widespread campus contacts. In terms of influence it is one of the most significant, yet little known organizations in this country."

The challenging question is whether these students are really represented by their organization or has it come under the control of Leftists who speak in their name. Testifying before a congressional committee, Howard Phillips, speaking for the Young Americans for Freedom, said:

"It is our conviction that the U.S. in the 1960's is at a crossroads between freedom and federal domination. On the one hand, a commitment to individual responsibility, a belief in certain absolute moral principles and the relatively free choice of one's own destiny. On the other hand, federal dominance, characterized by weakness, apathy, false security, excessive dependence and little respect for the individuality of every citizen."

These young people want the advantages of American life, the intellectual and spiritual heritage that has come down through the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution. They decline to believe that Marxism can drive us into another way of life. While they are realistic in their appraisal of current forces, they are unlike the conservative businessman who is throwing up the sponge because he is scared by the successes of Soviet Russia. These young people say:

"In fact, we believe that free enterprise is the best way to get most things done. It is what has made this country great, and it is what has given us the best system of health care this nation or any other nation has ever known."

It is these young people who must fight this war in which we are now engaged. Their lives are already being disordered by the anticipations of war. Young men and young women talk to each other on the telephone by the hour about whether he should enlist or take his chances on being drafted. Their parents say that the war will never come, that no one would be so stupid as to hurl a hydrogen bomb or to shoot a missile. The retaliation would be too awful.

The young people say that this kind of talk is meaningless because one way or another, their lives will be involved in war. When they think of marriage they wonder whether there will be a honeymoon or will he be called to some service. The young are not fooled by the situation or by the happy talk of the oldsters. And not being fooled, their minds turn to the preservation of the kind of America they know and love. Willing to fight even to sacrifice their lives, they are unwilling to accept Marxism-Leninism as a compromise with fate.

Among the C.R.N.S.O. there are none who believe "Better Red than dead." And they are willing to use all they have, their intellects and fists, to prove that the new Communist slogan is fraudulent.

Changing Motels

Big Chains And Family-Run Places Meet Greatest Success

This summer my husband and I have gone on dozens of overnight auto trips for business and pleasure, have criss-crossed the United States from East to West, from North to South. As I've sat in the car staring out and weighed our reactions to the roadside motels in which we've stayed, I've realized the extent to which America's fabulously growing motel industry has moved into the shakedown cycle.

The familiar comment about the men being separated from the boys applies in a dramatic way to the motel industry today.

The successful survivors are dividing into two distinct groups: one includes the large, luxurious motel with a swimming pool, restaurant, recreation facilities, lounge, TV and wall-to-wall carpeting in each room, etc.; the other includes the small, family-run motel which emphasizes hospitality and courtesy. The in-betweens are going bankrupt. The successful motels also are to an increasing extent publicizing and protecting themselves via association symbols and great chain names. The successful ones are more and more becoming hotel-like in shape and services, are invading downtown areas.

There is no question that motels are borrowing from hotels and vice versa. In Sarasota, Fla., there is a motel which is seven stories high; in Chicago there is a motel of 12 stories; in Santa Monica, Calif., there is a six-story motel; in Annapolis, Md., one of eight stories, and there are similar motels in many other cities.

There is no question that with so many thousands of motels beckoning to the traveler, the value of a chain name or a respected association is gaining crucial importance. In the East, the symbol of the Quality Courts United, Inc., is among the tops; in the West, this goes for Best Western. In the South, among the quality chains are Holiday Inn and Howard Johnson's; in the West, are Travel Lodge and Ramada Inn. Of course, there are others including the AAA — but I know we've traveled many miles to find a sign we felt we could trust, and I suspect that applies to millions of others.

Tommy Tucker, president of Quality Courts United, the largest non - profit motel association in the nation, is understandably biased in favor of his association, but when I queried him on this, he showed me evidence of one motel member in Georgia who last year was accidentally left out of the annual guide book Quality Courts publishes. In three months, his business had slumped 32 per cent. "The pull of a quality symbol or a familiar name is undeniable," Tucker emphasizes. Our experience surely confirms this.

There is no question that the restaurant is becoming a central factor in a motel's attractiveness — again in sharp contrast to years ago when a motel was simply a place to sleep and get out of early in the morning. Tucker believes that, "Restaurants will play an even more important role in the future success of motels, with more and more motels being forced to invest in these facilities to meet competition." As far as you are I are concerned, this foretells a general upgrading of the entire industry and that's in process right now.

There is no question but that many of today's motels are doomed to failure. As a traveler drives by, you can almost sense the ones that are going to die. Size isn't the key point: the well - run smaller motel on a carefully selected site is thriving and will thrive. Over-all, though, smaller motels are finding the competition increasingly brutal and it's going to get a lot worse.

With so many motels already in existence — there are 62,000 in our country today, up 20,000 just in the past 10 years — is the slowdown as well as the shakedown here? Tucker thinks not, says "Over-building is greatly overplayed," predicts there'll be 75,000 motels in operation by 1970. His expert judgment is that motels now will be moving aggressively into the convention and honeymoon business and going after luncheon and dinner trade too.

"What then will be the difference between a hotel and motel, particularly downtown?" I asked Tucker. Free parking and a basic "no tipping" policy — these will be the only differences left and they may not last either.

JFK's Stunning Defeat

"President Kennedy suffered one of the most stunning defeats of this session of congress . . . when the house voted against consideration of his aid-to-education bill, even though it was a whittled - down compromise."

That statement by the Associated Press could have been reversed to say that the forces fighting for free schools in America won the greatest victory that has been won in this session of congress by those fighting against government usurpation of states' rights and against federal control of the lives of all citizens in the United States. Regardless of the various reasons for defeat of the measure, the result means that for the time at least our schools will not be placed under federal control, nor brain-washed by the leftist, socialistic ideas of the present regime. For another year at least our schools will remain free.

Defeat of this measure also saw the coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats working almost to perfection. It was an illustration of what can be done to defeat the northern radical-liberals of the Democratic party when these two forces combine their strength.

Republicans and southern Democrats formed the bulk of the group that overwhelmed the bill's supporters, 242 to 169. Only six Republicans voted to consider the bill, while 82 Democrats voted against it.

The vote apparently ended all chances at this session for the administration to establish the principle of federal aid for public school construction. This was the key proposal remaining in the bill and the one that stuck in the throats of the conservatives.

The original program called for $2.5 billion for public schools, both for construction and salaries. All that remained in the defeated compromise was a $325-million, one-year construction program for the school districts reportedly most in need of assistance. Also originally proposed was a $1.8-billion college-aid bill.

The senate, which has been woefully guilty this session of swallowing the president's program, hook, line and sinker, without regard to preserving the nation's free enterprise and free school system, earlier had passed a bill containing almost everything the president asked.

In another rubber-stamp demonstration during the present session, the senate also passed a measure authorizing treasury borrowing for foreign aid thus taking the matter of appropriations for this purpose out of the hands of congress and also voted almost the entire amount of funds for foreign aid asked by President Kennedy. In that case, the more conservative house, which is more responsive to the moods of the people of this country, forced elimination of the treasury - borrowing provision and cut the amount provided for foreign aid.

After the senate had passed the school aid bill in the form sought by the president, the measure ran aground in the house rules committee, which controls the flow of bills to the floor, when the religious issue became involved.

Representative James J. Delaney, D-N.Y., a Catholic and one of the new members of the committee, which had been enlarged to end its conservative control, voted with the conservatives to block the school program. Delaney contended that parochial schools were being discriminated against while general aid was provided for public schools.

What was almost the final compromise was put together two weeks ago by Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff, a confirmed leftist and proponent of federal control of all activities, but even that was pared down somewhat before it cleared the badly split house education committee.

To get this tattered remnant to the house floor, in a desperate attempt to establish the principle of federal aid to schools, Negro Committee Chairman Adam Clayton Powell, who once faced charges of income tax evasion, had to resort to the rarely-used calendar Wednesday procedure. This bypasses the rules committee.

As soon as Powell called up the bill, the question of whether the house should consider it was raised and a roll call vote was forced. It was soon obvious that the administration school aid compromise was stopped in its tracks, even before debate and amendments could begin.

While the dispute over parochial schools played some part in the defeat of President Kennedy's plan for federal control of public schools, the coalition of southern conservatives and Republicans appeared to be strong enough to defeat the measure even without that assistance.

This sort of sound trouncing of federal control moves could soon put the United States firmly back on the path of democracy and states' rights mapped out by the founders of our nation.

Migration, Segregation

While some actions of the various Citizens Councils, organized to fight racial integration, may not meet with universal approval, there seems little doubt that one suggestion made by the Citizens Councils of America is based on logical reasoning.

Meeting in New Orleans, this group, which serves as a coordinating body for Citizens Council groups in the south and for similar organizations in other states, endorsed a proposal for the migration of Negroes to the north as a means of changing the northern attitude toward segregation. It said:

"One million more Negroes in New York or Chicago will provide the south with an argument far more powerful than mere words."

New York and Chicago already have been flooded with Negro migrations. In New York City, where the Negro population formerly was extremely low, some of the formerly almost white boroughs, such as Manhattan, are now said to have combined populations of Negroes and Puerto Ricans which exceed the white population. The increase of Negroes in Chicago has been disturbing.

One thing that the Citizens Council of America may have failed to consider is that most of the white residents of Chicago and New York are already opposed to integration and are resisting it with all their into areas not yet touched by Negroes.

Our principal trouble, insofar as integration and segregation are concerned, is that the vote-hungry politicians and the crusading United States supreme court are forcing upon the citizens of the north, as well as the south, a situation they do not want.

There is a possibility that if the migration of Negroes to the north becomes great enough the citizens of those states may join the south in a protest so strong that it cannot be ignored by congressmen seeking re-election.

David Lowrence writes, in U.S. News & World Report: "If . . . the Soviet Premier does miscalculate the resourcefulness and determination of the free West, he should not fail to take into account the basic antipathy toward war which the Russian people feel today. No dictator in Russia can count on historic 'patriotism' to protect him in his folly. For the Russian people, even in the midst of World War I, rebelled and made a separate peace with the enemy . . . As we trace the Khrushchev policies to the consequences that will inevitably follow any of his miscalculations, the West today has but one course to pursue. It is to prepare for war and to do so with a sincere hope and prayer that a conflict will be

This Possibility Is Behind President Kennedy's Surprise Move For East-West Conference On Berlin

Behind President Kennedy's surprise decision to take the initiative in arranging an early east-west conference on Berlin is the growing danger of a nuclear war being sparked by an uncontrolled incident or accident.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk was directed to take the lead to bring the Soviets to the conference table after the president received an intelligence estimate that a full - scale uprising in East Germany within the next 60 days was a real possibility if tensions over West Berlin were not reduced.

That's the foreboding report that the president gave Democratic congressional leaders at their regular White House meeting when they questioned him on U. S. plans to negotiate the Berlin crisis.

The President said he had instructed Secretary Rusk to arrange for east - west talks "as soon as possible," because, "We stand on the edge of war."

"An escape valve is needed to lessen the mounting tensions over Berlin," the president reported. "Negotiations now would permit everyone to pull back from the brink of war, with a conference underway, Khrushchev is likely to redouble his efforts to avoid any incidents that might spark a conflict."

Revealing the danger of an uprising in East Germany, the president cautioned that such an explosion in the present crisis - charged atmosphere would set off a chain reaction that could easily touch off a major east - west conflict.

He said it was the joint chiefs of staff judgment that the Soviets would move in tanks and troops to put down any uprising, as they did in June 1953, and that the West Germans would counter that Communist move by sending armed units to help out their East German relatives.

"If that is a correct estimate of the situation, the fat would be in the fire," warned the president, "It would be almost impossible to keep that situation from exploding into a nuclear war."

The President made one other thing very clear to the legislators.

In pushing for immediate talks with the Soviets, he said Rusk had instructions to make the Russians understand that western right of access to Berlin was not negotiable.

This was also the sense of discussions that Secretary Rusk and his top aides had recently when they dined at the Canadian Embassy with Ambassador Arnold Heeney.

At the dinner with Rusk were McGeorge Bundy, the president's principal adviser on foreign affairs, Foy Kohler, assistant secretary of state for European affairs, and Charles Bohlen, special assistant to Rusk on Soviet affairs. They are the chief architects of the administration's policy on Berlin.

They assured the Canadian ambassador that the U. S. did not expect Khrushchev to start a war over Berlin. Also, that the U. S. was taking every step possible to avoid an incident that might touch off a nuclear holocaust.

Note: The U. S. will soon move in the United Nations to demand Russia furnish detailed evidence of what precautions she's taking against accidental nuclear war. Plan is to emphasize elaborate U. S. precautions and safeguards. Ambassador Stevenson will ask that UN teams inspect Russian safety systems.

SELLING AMERICA OVERSEAS — The Commerce Department is now setting out on a search for foreigners who want to own a share of America.

A new office of Investment, in existence less than two months, will encourage foreigners to make long - term investments in U.S. firms. In the past this kind of promotion was only an incidental part of other departmental work.

The new agency will seek U.S. companies interested in foreign investors. It will then assemble data on each company's business, plant, equipment, products, labor force, and locality.

These profiles will be handed over to the State Department's commercial representatives abroad, who will then look up potential investors and sell them on the idea of buying into American companies.

As a starter, the office of investment will soon begin gathering information on capital needs in some of the U. S. labor surplus areas. They hope to enlist foreigners to set up joint ventures in these areas with U. S. investors.

Although the agency has just started to work, it has hopes of developing a list of investment opportunities before the end of 1961.

U. S. companies interested in getting on this list may contact the Office of Investment, Bureau of Foreign Commerce, Commerce Department, or write this column.

MORE ON BERLIN — Senator Hubert Humphrey, D., Minn., reports that western diplomats believe Russia cannot risk pushing the Berlin crisis too far because of serious internal weaknesses in the Soviet bloc. He cites a State Department report that, for the second year in a row, the Soviet harvest is in serious difficulty. It comes at a time when food is critically short in almost all parts of the Communist empire . . . Another example of Soviet troubles is revealed in an intelligence report that states an entire organization of "Free German Youth" was dissolved at a hydraulic plant near Halle in the Soviet Zone of East Germany because of the refusal of its members to volunteer for army service. Officers of the group were arrested.

Sun Worshippers

Hazards Resulting From Chronic Exposure To Sunlight

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Five years ago my bust size was 37 inches. After breast - nursing my son I am barely a size 32. I have tried exercises of all kinds but to no avail. Do you know of any exercise that could possibly help? It's really a worry to me. I would like to remedy this. I have also thought of breast surgery for insertion of rubber foam. What do you think? — Sincerely, Mrs. X., Indiana

Comment: I know of no treatment — medical or surgical — that I would advise. What can I say except "throw away the tape measure"? I know many readers will think this is heartless advice to a woman who seems so upset. But what else can I do? Blunt or not, these are my sentiments. I have just left a patient suffering from terminal cancer. I guess that's the reason for my seeming impatience with Mrs. X's complaint.

Many readers would like to know if too much sun is bad. I always advise sun worshippers to try to take it in moderation. For example, here are some words by Dr. James M. Knox writing in Medical Times:

"Few people are aware of the hazards resulting from chronic exposure to sunlight. Fashionable women, who regard a deep brown suntan as essential, should be informed that sun can cause premature aging." Prolonged exposure can cause "a dry, coarse and leathery appearance of the skin, pigmentary changes, and wrinkling." Better intersperse sun with some shade of the old apple tree.

Writes Mrs. D.: I am deeply concerned about my husband who has gouty arthritis. His attacks are becoming more severe. He has had them in the ankle and knee, left hand and arm; and last week, in the right hand. He has taken colchicine, which helps for a while, then the attacks recur. I will appreciate any suggestions.

Comment: First, I must assume that the diagnosis is correct. Probably your husband has high blood uric acid readings; and X-rays may show some typical gouty changes in his joints. The only special diet of value that I know of is that he cut down on fats, especially. Some people also seem to be helped when they stop drinking liquor, tea and coffee.

It is important not to be overweight. Moderate exertion may be all right, but overexertion often brings on attacks. As for the treatment of the attack itself, gout affected joint. We give colchicine every hour during the attack. Relief comes about the time that the pills have caused diarrhea and nauseau (which soon disappear).

However, there are other medicines that are quite helpful. Your doctor will use them as necessary. Butazolidin, Benemid, and Cortisone derivatives are often useful during and between attacks to lessen their frequency.

Be thankful, at least, that your doctor has made the correct diagnosis. Otherwise, your husband might be taking aspirin or something else for "rheumatism." Unless we doctors diagnose gout early, the patient doesn't stand a chance. He goes on suffering unnecessarily.

"Oh, my aching back!" A friend of mine has one, but refuses to go to a doctor. He has spent hundreds of dollars in buying special shoes and arch supports, special exercise machines, special braces. He spends thirty dollars a week for "special massages."

"Why don't you see a good orthopedist?" I asked.

"Too expensive," he answers. When I suggest he's scared to go, he pooh-poohs the idea. But I'll wager that's the reason. Many people suffer needlessly because they are afraid of doctors.

Conservative Rise

Year 1961 Will Go Down In Campus History As Time Of Revolt

The year 1961 will go down in American campus history as the conservative revolt. During the 1930's the Communists captured various students' organizations over which they held pretty tight control until 1939 when the Hitler-Stalin Alliance shamed many who had joined Communist front groups not because they accepted Marxist doctrine but because they hated Hitler and the Nazi.

The war came and college organizations were captured by so-called Liberals, that is by those who could see both sides of a question and favored one side mildly but not obstinately. The Liberals have been, by the very nature of their ideas, opportunistic, reaching conclusions without regard to basic philosophy.

The 1961 United States National Students Convention, meeting at Madison, Wisconsin, found itself confronted by a Committee for a Responsible National Student Organization, a conservative group, closely affiliated with the Young Americans for Freedom. Led by Howard Phillips, recently president of the Harvard Student Council, Leftists and Liberals have encountered capable organization and articulate conservative thought. The National Student Association claims to represent 1,300,000 American students. The reason for attempting to gain control of the National Student Association is explained as follows:

"We are attempting to rehabilitate the present structure of N.S.A., rather than at first make a fresh start, because N.S.A. exists as the semi-official, self-avowed, and unchallenged national union of students for the United States of America. It claims to speak for the American student at important international student meetings; it receives the informal cooperation of the United States government; it has considerable strength and widespread campus contacts. In terms of influence it is one of the most significant, yet little known organizations in this country."

The challenging question is whether these students are really represented by their organization or has it come under the control of Leftists who speak in their name. Testifying before a congressional committee, Howard Phillips, speaking for the Young Americans for Freedom, said:

"It is our conviction that the U.S. in the 1960's is at a cross-roads between freedom and federal domination. On the one hand, a commitment to individual responsibility, a belief in certain absolute moral principles and the relatively free choice of one's own destiny. On the other hand, federal dominance, characterized by weakness, apathy, false security, excessive dependence and little respect for the individuality of every citizen."

These young people want the advantages of American life, the intellectual and spiritual heritage that has come down through the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution. They decline to believe that Marxism can drive us into another way of life. While they are realistic in their appraisal of current forces, they are unlike the conservative businessman who is throwing up the sponge because he is scared by the successes of Soviet Russia. These young people say:

"In fact, we believe that free enterprise is the best way to get most things done. It is what has made this country great, and it is what has given us the best system of health care this nation or any other nation has ever known."

It is these young people who must fight this war in which we are now engaged. Their lives are already being disordered by the anticipations of war. Young men and young women talk to each other on the telephone by the hour about whether he should enlist or take his chances on being drafted. Their parents say that the war will never come, that no one would be so stupid as to hurl a hydrogen bomb or to shoot a missile. The retaliation would be too awful.

The young people say that this kind of talk is meaningless because one way or another, their lives will be involved in war. When they think of marriage, they wonder whether there will be a honeymoon or will he be called to some service. The young are not fooled by the situation or by the happy talk of the oldsters. And not being fooled, their minds turn to the preservation of the kind of America they know and love. Willing to fight even to sacrifice their lives, they are unwilling to accept Marxism-Leninism as a compromise with fate.

Among the C.R.N.S.O. there are none who believe "Better Red than dead." And they are willing to use all they have, their intellects and fists, to prove that the new Communist slogan is fraudulent.

Changing Motels

Big Chains And Family-Run Places Meet Greatest Success

This summer my husband and I have gone on dozens of overnight auto trips for business and pleasure, have criss-crossed the United States from East to West, from North to South. As I've sat in the car staring out and weighed our reactions to the roadside motels in which we've stayed, I've realized the extent to which America's fabulously growing motel industry has moved into the shakedown cycle.

The familiar comment about the men being separated from the boys applies in a dramatic way to the motel industry today.

The successful survivors are dividing into two distinct groups: one includes the large, luxurious motel with a swimming pool, restaurant, recreation facilities, lounge, TV and wall-to-wall carpeting in each room, etc.; the other includes the small, family-run motel which emphasizes hospitality and courtesy. The in-betweens are going bankrupt. The successful motels also are to an increasing extent publicizing and protecting themselves via association symbols and great chain names. The successful ones are more and more becoming hotel-like in shape and services, are invading downtown areas.

There is no question that motels are borrowing from hotels and vice versa. In Sarasota, Fla., there is a motel which is seven stories high; in Chicago there is a motel of 12 stories; in Santa Monica, Calif., there is a six-story motel; in Annapolis, Md., one of eight stories, and there are similar motels in many other cities.

There is no question that with so many thousands of motels beckoning to the traveler, the value of a chain name or a respected association is gaining crucial importance. In the East, the symbol of the Quality Courts United, Inc., is among the tops; in the West, this goes for Best Western. In the South, among the quality chains are Holiday Inn and Howard Johnson's; in the West, are Travel Lodge and Ramada Inn. Of course, there are others including the AAA — but I know we've traveled many miles to find a sign we felt we could trust, and I suspect that applies to millions of others.

BY NONALIGNED NATIONS

West Is Rapped For Colonialism

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Leaders of 24 nonaligned nations began a five-day conference here Friday with most professing to fear Western colonialism more than the threat of an immediate nuclear war.

Liberation of so-called colonies appeared to take precedence over such problems as the Berlin crisis and the Kremlin's announcement it would resume nuclear tests, as aspirations of the 24 countries began to take form.

Three of the four top men present—President Tito of Yugoslavia, the United Arab Republic's president, Gamal Abdel Nasser; and Indonesia's President Sukarno—urged the world's uncommitted nations not to surrender but to continue their fight for peace and understanding.

Nasser rapped the Soviet Union sharply for its decision to resume nuclear tests, saying it had "shocked me as it shocked world public opinion." No matter what Soviet motives were, he added, the main thing was the decision's "clear bearing on the deterioration of the dangerous international position."

Other speakers on the inaugural day's program echoed his sentiments though most did so in a milder fashion. Anticolonialism appeared to be more important to most of the relatively underdeveloped nations than the Kremlin's bombs.

Sukarno blasted those who sought to hold their colonial empire—with one eye firmly on the Dutch from whom his country claims West New Guinea.

Nasser assailed France for its behavior in Africa, and criticized Belgium for its Congo record. He added some words of rebuke for the United States on the ground it permitted France to use North Atlantic Treaty Organization equipment against Tunisians at Bizerte and allowed Portugal to bomb Angola natives with "made in America" planes and bombs.

President Ibrahim Abboud of the Sudan told the conference the whole of the African continent should be a neutral zone void of all atomic armament and its experiments. He criticized French nuclear tests directly but did not mention the planned resumption of Soviet tests. Abboud also called for an end to foreign bases in Africa in bitter attacks on French policy in Tunisia and Algeria.

But hope appeared to be a keynote, as eight of the 24 delegation leaders opened the inaugural day's schedule with speeches before a colorful assemblage of black, white and brown statesmen.

They represented Afghanistan, the provisional Algerian government, Burma, Cambodia, Ceylon, Cuba, Cyprus, Ethiopia, Ghana, Guinea, India, Indonesia, Iraq, Lebanon, Mali, Morocco, Nepal, Saudi Arabia, Somalia, Sudan, Tunis, United Arab Republic, Yemen and Yugoslavia.

Only one military uniform was seen among the ten presidents, one emperor, two kings, six prime ministers, three foreign ministers and two princes at the opening session. Indonesia's Sukarno appeared in full military regalia.

Anticolonialism—aimed only at the Western type with no mention of what critics of the Soviet Union call Communist colonialism—ran through every speech. Sukarno's keynote was a proposal that the conference fix a two-year time limit for the ending of colonialism.

Conference speakers, whose statements were broadcast by Yugoslav television and radio, stressed repeatedly that the Belgrade conference is not aimed at forming a third bloc. But they mentioned, too, the possibility of concerted action by the nonaligned nations, either to bring pressure on the opposing East-West blocs to settle their disputes without war, or on nations who refuse to give independence to their foreign territories.

ANNOUNCES EXODUS TOTAL

BONN (UPI) — The West German government press office announced Friday 47,433 East Germans were granted asylum in August. In July 33,415 fled.

It said 21,828 of the August escapees applied for asylum before the East-West Berlin border was closed Aug. 13.

Families Perish In Plane Crash

Three families, four job-hunting young women and a pretty stewardess who had gotten her wing only four months ago were among the 78 persons killed in the fiery crash today of a Trans World Airlines Constellation plane at Chicago.

The families were:

An engineer, his wife and their five children, who were returning from a month visit with relatives in Philadelphia.

An architect, his wife, and their four children, who were on the last leg of a European vacation, and

A mother and her four children, returning from a month with relatives in New England.

Others on the doomed plane included:

Nanette Fidger, 20, a stewardess who joined the line last May, had intended to make only one more flight after Friday's before leaving the airline to prepare for her marriage to Jack Wyatt, a Crawfordsville, Ind., insurance salesman.

A teen-age girl returning to school in California after vacationing with her parents in Rhode Island.

A teen-age boy who worked all summer to earn plane fare for a visit with his aunt and uncle in California, and

A pilot, who was the father of two children and the veteran of 16 years services with the airline.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Maloney sadly related how the couple and their five children were anxious to reach their Canoga Park, Calif., home where an addition was being built to provide more living space for their children, Michael, 5; Maureen, 3; Richard, 10; Mary, 8, and James, 1. All were killed.

The wife and four children of L. Neil Gilliam—a Forest Department employe of Eureka, Calif.—were listed among the dead. They were en route from a visit with her parents in New Bedford, Mass. Killed were Mrs. Gilliam and her children, Benton, 14; Karen, 11; Tommy, 7; and Linda Jo, 4.

Edward N. Chamberlain, a noted architect from Palo Alto, Calif., and his wife and four sons were among the victims. They had stopped at Kensington, Conn., to visit relatives en route from Europe. Dead with their parents were Edward, 14; Richard, 9; Grant, 4; and James, 2.

Sylvia Remnant, 32, who boarded the plane with three children, John, 10; Elmer, 3; and an infant girl, purchased their tickets in Liverpool, England.

Estella Woods, 67, left Binghamton, N.Y., Thursday night by plane and transferred a Pittsburgh to the ill-fated craft. Before she left the New York airport, her granddaughter, Sharlene Woods, 7, warned "that plane's going to crash."

It made a safe journey to Pittsburgh where Mrs. Woods boarded the Constellation.

Carole Chase, Linda Annis, Nancy Bergstrom and Linda Peaslee—four 20-year-old girls in quest of employment in California—boarded the plane at Boston after a drive from their Suncook, N.H., home.

"They had planned this trip for six months," a friend said. "They had friends in the Los Angeles area and planned to stay with their friends at the start."

John M. Macosko, 55, of Pittsburgh, was en route to visit two sisters in California during a two-week vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Skurcenski were returning to their Englewood, Calif., home after a two-week visit with Surcenski's mother in Pittsburgh.

Miss Dona Brodish, 20, left her Sharpsville, Pa., home to visit in California with her brother, Fred.

Timothy Hubley, an industrious 17-year-older, paid for his trip from his Milford, N.H., home with money earned doing odd jobs during the summer. He intended visiting his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. William Thompson, in Sun Valley, Calif.

Nancy Walker, 17, was returning to Oakland, Calif., to re-enter school after a visit with friends in Bristol, R.I., where she had lived until 18 months ago. Her father, mother and a brother were with her in Bristol.

The father left Sunday by plane for Oakland and the mother and brother remained for a few more days in Bristol.

Capt. James H. Sanders, pilot of the plane, lived with his wife and two children in Manhattan Beach, Calif. He joined the airline in 1945.

Boy Takes Solo Ride In $40,000 Passenger Bus

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — An urge to conquer big things—that's what he said it was—ran away with a 14-year-old boy Friday.

At dawn he slid beneath the steering wheel of a fueled and ready $40,000 passenger bus and took off on a solo trip for parts unknown.

K. C. Spivey, the driver of another Trailways bus about ready to leave for Richmond, gave chase in his bus.

For 15 city blocks the boy kept his lead. Then the bus missed a turn at Norchester Street and Kimball Terrace and ran up on a lawn. Spivey collared the young volunteer driver and held him until police arrived.

The boy, whose name was not disclosed, was ordered to a state industrial school at a juvenile court hearing. The bus wasn't damaged.

The cops said the boy—small for his age—told them he often "felt the urge to conquer big things" but didn't mess with small things such as automobiles. He had a packed suitcase with him. His plans, he said, were only to go somewhere.

School Opening Set Tuesday; Record Expected

Ouachita and Monroe school system officials forecast Friday that the 1961-62 school year beginning Tuesday should see a new high enrollment of close to 25,000 students.

Parish Supt. W. W. Ward and city Supt. Van Odom said that a normal increase in enrollment when the term starts, plus students who enroll later, will boost the total to the new level.

Ouachita schools started with 13,827 students last fall, and would up with 14,304 when classes ended in May. Monroe schools saw a 390 pupil increase, from 8755 in September to 9145 at term's end.

This made a grand total of 23,449 pupils in all schools last May—only 1600 away from the predicted figure for this year.

Soviets Boast Rockets Can Hit Global Targets

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviets boasted Friday their nuclear rockets can hit targets anywhere on earth with the first shot.

A small sampling of the opinions of Soviet citizens indicated that after the initial shock and worry of Thursday some appear to be resigned to the Soviet press and radio explanations for resuming nuclear tests.

The Soviet Army newspaper Red Star carried the rocket boasts in an article by Dr. F. Rybkin, a doctor of technology. He recalled the successes of the rockets which carried two Soviet cosmonauts into space and of the rockets tested in the Pacific last year.

He said besides powerful rockets "other no less powerful rockets "other no less powerful means for national defense have been created in the Soviet Union." He gave no indication what these might be.

Red Star said the 1960 tests showed the Soviet rockets could be fired up to 8,000 miles and still land within two kilometers (1.3 miles) of their target.

"This means that any target in the world can be hit at the first attempt by a Soviet nuclear rocket without any firing for adjustment," Red Star said.

Foresters are planning to attach a tiny "peep-peep" radio transmitter to a porcupine to help them determine the range of the prickly little animal that causes great damage to trees.

BY NONALIGNED NATIONS

West Is Rapped For Colonialism

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) —Leaders of 24 nonaligned nations began a five-day conference here Friday with most professing to fear Western colonialism more than the threat of an immediate nuclear war.

Liberation of so-called colonies appeared to take precedence over such problems as the Berlin crisis and the Kremlin's announcement it would resume nuclear tests, as aspirations of the 24 countries began to take form.

Three of the four top men present—President Tito of Yugoslavia, the United Arab Republic's president, Gamal Abdel Nasser; and Indonesia's President Sukarno—urged the world's uncommitted nations not to surrender but to continue their fight for peace and understanding.

Nasser rapped the Soviet Union sharply for its decision to resume nuclear tests, saying it had "shocked me as it shocked world public opinion." No matter what Soviet motives were, he added, the main thing was the decision's "clear bearing on the deterioration of the dangerous international position."

Other speakers on the inaugural day's program echoed his sentiments though most did so in a milder fashion. Anticolonialism appeared to be more important to most of the relatively underdeveloped nations than the Kremlin's bombs.

Sukarno blasted those who sought to hold their colonial empire—with one eye firmly on the Dutch from whom his country claims West New Guinea.

Nasser assailed France for its behavior in Africa, and criticized Belgium for its Congo record. He added some words of rebuke for the United States on the ground it permitted France to use North Atlantic Treaty Organization's equipment against Tunisians at Bizerte and allowed Portugal to bomb Angola natives with "made-in-America" planes and bombs.

President Ibrahim Abboud of the Sudan told the conference the whole of the African continent should be a neutral zone void of all atomic armament and its experiments. He criticized French nuclear tests directly but did not mention the planned resumption of Soviet tests. Abboud also called for an end to foreign bases in Africa in bitter attacks on French policy in Tunisia and Algeria.

But hope appeared to be a keynote, as eight of the 24 delegation leaders opened the inaugural day's schedule with speeches before a colorful assemblage of black, white and brown statesmen.

They represented Afghanistan, the provisional Algerian government, Burma, Cambodia, Ceylon, Cuba, Cyprus, Ethiopia, Ghana, Guinea, India, Indonesia, Iraq, Lebanon, Mali, Morocco, Nepal, Saudi Arabia, Somalia, Sudan, Tunis, United Arab Republic, Yemen and Yugoslavia.

Only one military uniform was seen among the ten presidents, one emperor, two kings, six prime ministers, three foreign ministers and two princes at the opening session. Indonesia's Sukarno appeared in full military regalia.

Anticolonialism—aimed only at the Western type with no mention of what critics of the Soviet Union call Communist colonialism—ran through every speech. Sukarno's keynote was a proposal that the conference fix a two-year time limit for the ending of colonialism.

Conference speakers, whose statements were broadcast by Yugoslav television and radio, stressed repeatedly that the Belgrade conference is not aimed at forming a third bloc. But they mentioned, too, the possibility of concerted action by the nonaligned nations, either to bring pressure on the opposing East-West blocs to settle their disputes without war, or on nations who refuse to give independence to their foreign territories.

Sheriff Books Four On Varied Charges Here

Four persons have been booked on charges ranging from burglary to driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages by the Ouachita Parish sheriff's department.

The four were arrested after complaint of the burglary of a jukebox at the Old Dixie Inn on Highway 80 west early Friday morning.

Booked were John Bendel Thompson, 19, of route one, Calhoun, disturbing the peace by public drunkenness and burglary; Wesley Gray Heckford, 25 of 222 Smith St., West Monroe, burglary and DWI; Connie Dupree, 20, of 423 Hickory St., West Monroe, burglary; and Mary Jane Bailey, 20 of 703 Cypress St., also of West Monroe, charged with being an accessory after the fact.

According to investigating deputies, Lettie Brooks who operates the club, reported her jukebox had been broken into and a number of records taken around 2 a.m.

Shortly afterwards, deputies stopped a car described by the Brooks woman as the vehicle the party left in.

However, the Bailey woman is the only member of the four who has made a statement to the sheriff's department.

All four were placed in the parish jail.

GRAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—The grain futures market tilted toward weakness Friday in light dealings apparently directed largely toward evening commitments for the long holiday weekend.

Oats were steady to firm but plus signs elsewhere were few and mostly small. Brokers said there were no new trade factors to influence the market either way and that commercial demand was almost nil.

Wheat finished ⅛ cent a bushel higher to ⅛ lower, September $1.96½-⅝; corn ⅜-⅝ lower, September $1.08⅝-½; oats unchanged to ½ higher, September 69⅜; rye ¼ lower to ¾ higher, September $1.25-24¾; soybeans ¼-¾ lower, September $2.45¾-46.

Blancos Fires 64 Qualifying Round

Championship Flight Begins Play At 12:40

By STEVE HENRY

Homero Blancos of Houston Texas birdied the last three holes for a six-under-par 64 to win medalist honors in the 13th annual Cotton States Invitational Golf Tournament at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club yesterday.

On a day when high winds and soggy fairways pushed most qualifying scores upward, Blacos mastered the 6,285 yard DeSiard Course, using strong iron play and superb putting to score seven birdies in route to his 64.

Only four players besides Blancos in the 176 man field could break par.

They were Gene Dahlbender, Burt Burdick, Jack Rivers, and Bob Travis.

At even par 70 were John Dottley and Van Lee.

John Pepin had 71, and Floyd Addington posted 72.

Rounding out the 32 man championship flight were Mike Gregory, Robert Ewing, Roy Pace, Fred Nelson, and Roy Nash, all with 73's; Clayton Cole, 74; John Garrett, Jim Paul and Ben Parks, 75's; Chip Lyman, Dave Gammill, Joe Thomas, Speed Bancroft, Larry Tilly, and Jimmy Warren with 76's; Jim Williams, Walt Fondren, Jimmy Brown, and Bill Jones with 77's, and Walter Johnson, 78.

Only two name players failed to make the championship flight, although scores were generally high.

Greenville Invitational Championship flight player in the Cotton States for the past four years had an 80.

BLANCOS

Blancos had 32 on both sides.

After paring the first two holes he birdied numbers three, four, and five, then parred in for a three under par 32.

He started off the back sine with a birdie three on the 330 yard 10th hole.

Pars on the next four holes brought him to the 560 yard 15th where he made his only bogey of the day.

After that, he birdied the final three holes.

On both 17 and 18, he holed long puts—a 60 footer on 17 and a footer on 18.

Following are the pairings.

LA Whips Braves On Roseboro's Hit

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers pushed across a run on Johnny Roseboro's ninth inning single and edged the Milwaukee Braves 4-3 Friday night to move to within 2½ games of the idle Cincinnati Reds.

The second-place Dodgers capitalized on three of 10 walks by Milwaukee starter Bob Buhl and reliever Don McMahon for three of their tallies.

The loss dumped the Braves into fourth place behind San Francisco, which defeated Chicago 4-3 in 14 innings. Milwaukee trails the front-running Reds by seven games.

Milwaukee scored two runs on a walk, a single and two straight wild pitches to tie the count 3-3 in the eighth, but McMahon was unable to check the Dodgers in the ninth.

Ron Fairly worked McMahon for a walk and went to second on Frank Howard's sacrifice. Roseboro then drilled a sharp grounder through the middle, scoring Fairly with the decisive run.

The victory was credited to reliever Dick Farrell, the third Los Angeles pitcher, whose two wild pitches presented the Braves with their two runs in the eighth.

Farrell's record is 8-6. McMahon, who took over after Buhl was lifted for a pinch hitter in the seventh, was charged with the defeat, his second, compared with eight victories.

Birds Beaten By Cleveland; Power Stars

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Cleveland Indians ruined the managerial debut of Baltimore's Luman Harris Friday night, whipping the Orioles 5-4 despite three Baltimore homers.

Harris was named interim manager of the Orioles, replacing Paul Richards who resigned.

Vic Power knocked in three runs for the Indians with a pair of singles, and scored their final run when Oriole loser Chuck Estrada balked as Power attempted to steal home in the third inning.

Brooks Robinson hit two homers and Whitey Herzog slugged another, all with the bases empty, for Baltimore.

Barry Latman, who was removed after six innings because of a blister, was the winning pitcher. Reliefer Frank Funk retired nine of the last 10 batters, striking out four.

At Ferriday

FERRIDAY (Special)— Vidalia went undefeated in the six-game football jamboree here last night, bumping off Ferriday 6-0, Block 13-0, and Waterproof 6-0. Block and Waterproof battled to a 0-0 tie, while Ferriday beat Waterproof -0 and Ferriday smashed Block 13-0 in other games.

Left half George Franklin scored the TD for Bidalia in the Ferriday game on a four yard plunge. The kick was no good.

Donnie Moore, Ferriday right half, scored their touchdown against Waterproof from four yards out. Again the PAT was no good.

A 55 yard pass play from quarterback Jim Stringer to Franklin got Vidalia's first score against Block. Stringer picked up the next on a four-yard end run. Franklin kicked the extra point.

Quarterback Red Walker tossed 12 yards to end Jerry Poole for Ferriday's opening score against Block. Dennis Jones, Ferriday right half, got the second on a 23-yard run. Walker sneaked over for the extra-point.

Fullback Skipper Van Pelt hit the middle from a yard away to give Vidalia its 6-0 win over Waterproof.

Lake Providence back Dupree got their first score in the game with Newellton, on a one - yard plunge over tackle after a 72 yard march that took 12 plays.

With three minutes left to go, Lake Providence recovered a fumble on Newellton's 15. Overby cracked the line for one, then romped 14 yards for the final marker.

At Ruston

RUSTON (Special) — Ruston's Annual Jamboree was a hard - hitting, strong defensive affair with all three games ending with identical 6-0 scores.

In the first game Ruston's "B" Team defeated Bernice 6-0 on halfback Billy Ray Abney's 22 yard run. The attempted kick for the extra point was no good.

Farmerville eased by Homer in the second game by the same 6-0 score. When quarterback Jerry Allen carried over from the six yard line for the games only tally.

Homer threatened to score in the closing minutes when they got their passing attact to clicking but time ran out before they could reach paydirt.

Halback Melvin Chows tossed a 24 yard pass to Abney, who was playing the other halfback position, for the only touchdown in the Ruston — Jonesboro - Hodge game. Jonesboro - Hodge threatened four times, twice reaching Ruston's four yard line but could never push the ball across the goal line.

Cannon Returns Punt 58-Yards As Houston Rolls

MOBILE, Ala (AP)—Houston's Oilers used three spectacular first half touchdowns as a springboard to a 42-10 victory over the Denver Broncos in an American Football League exhibition game before 10,087 Friday night.

George Blanda, veteran quarterback, ignited two of the scores with brilliant passes, one to Bill Groman for 84 yards and another to Charles Hennigan for 67 yards.

The third was a 58-yard punt return by Billy Cannon, former Louisiana State University All-America.

Denver's only first half score was a 22-yard goal by Gene Mingo.

Charlie Tolar, fire plug fullback, took over the Houston offense in the second half, scoring twice. His first touchdown was a 22-yard pass-run play from Jacky Lee, Houston's second half quarterback. The other was on a two-yard plunge that ended a drive started by Cannon's 68-yard runback of a Denver kickoff.

Houston's sixth touchdown was a 31-yard pass from Lee to Groman.

At Bossier City

BOSSIER CITY (Special) — Coach Billy Maxwell's Bossier City Bearkat's scored a 7-0 victory over the Winnfield Tigers in the feature game of the Bossier City Lion's club football jamboree here last night.

Plain Dealing defeated Sicily Island 13-6 in the initial game of the night and Logansport downed Arcaida 12-0 in the second tilt.

Bossier's only score came with four minutes remaining in the 12-minute first half when quarterback Ray Showmake climaxed a 54 - yard drive by swinging around right end for six yards and the touchdown. Sonny Spataro kicked the extra point.

Plain Dealing scored mix - way in the first half on a series of line plays that started following the opening kickoff. They marched 60 yards in 11 plays with the score coming on a reverse by Trigger Allen who went around left end for 23 yards Jerry Chandler's extra point kick failed and the Lions led 6-0 with six minutes remaining in the first half.

Henry Keith picked off a Sicily Island pass on the Tigers 24 -yard line and streaked home for Plain Dealing's second marker. Chandler's kick was good as the Lions took a 13-0 first half edge.

Sicily Island got its only marker on the last play of the game when Albert Krause pitched a 25-yard pass to end Benton Blackman. The PAT failed.

Boston Wins As Cappelletti Stars

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Gino Cappelletti capped a full evening of scoring for Boston with a 35-yard field goal in the last two minutes to defeat winless Buffalo 15-12 in an American Football League exhibition Friday night.

The former Minnesota halfback did all the scoring for the Patriots with three field goals and a 31-yard touchdown pass reception from quarterback Babe Parilli.

The Patriots broke the scoring ice after a futile first period. Parilli hit Cappelletti on the Buffalo 3, and Cappy wormed his way into the end zone.

The Bills came right back with a score on a 12-play, 80-yard drive. Wray Carlton capped the drive with a three-yard sweep. Billy Atkins put the Bills in front with a successful conversion kick.

Cappelletti put the Patriots back in front two minutes later with a 17-yard field goal. Cappy's other field goal came midway in the last period, sailing 32 yards.

Buffalo picked up two surprise points in the third quarter when Boston halfback Ray Ratkowski took a kickoff in the end zone, ran out, then decided against running and stepped back into the end zone for a safety.

Eagles-Hogs

CROSSETT, Ark. (Special) — The Crossette Eagles and the Texarkana Razerbacks battled to a scoreless tie in a game played at Forrest Field Friday night.

Although a light rain fell Friday afternoon, the playing field was in perfect shape.

The teams were extremely evenly matched and battled up and down the field with neither being able to find a weakness in the other's defense.

Crossette mustered the longest drive of the game in the fourth quarter when they drove 51 yards from their own 20 yard line before losing the ball on a fumble.

The Eagles attempted eight passes, completed one for six yards, chalked up seven first downs, gained 106 yards rushing and lost 10 yards on penalties.

Tekarkana attempted seven passes, completed one for 15 yards, also had seven first downs, gained 128 yards rushing and lost 15 yards on penalites.

Roger Maris, Mickey Mantle, Jim Gentile and Rocky Colavito were the first American Leaguers to drive home 100 runs this season.

Blancos Fires 64 Qualifying Round

Championship Flight Begins Play At 12:40

By STEVE HENRY

Homero Blancos of Houston Texas birdied the last three holes for a six-under-par 64 to win medalist honors in the 13th annual Cotton States Invitational Golf Tournament at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club yesterday.

On a day when high winds and soggy fairways pushed most qualifying scores upward, Blacos mastered the 6,285 yard DeSiard Course, using strong iron play and superb putting to score seven birdies in route to his 64.

Only four players besides Blancos in the 176 man field could break par.

They were Gene Dahlbender, Burt Burdick, Jack Rivers, and Bob Travis.

At even par 70 were John Dottley and Van Lee.

John Pepin had 71, and Floyd Addington posted 72.

Rounding out the 32 man championship flight were Mike Gregory, Robert Ewing, Roy Pace, Fred Nelson, and Roy Nash, all with 73's; Clayton Cole, 74; John Garrett, Jim Paul and Ben Parks, 75's; Chip Lyman, Dave Gammil, Joe Thomas, Speed Bancroft, Larry Tilly, and Jimmy Warren all with 76's; Jim Williams, Walt Fondren, Jimmy Brown, and Bill Jones with 77's; and Walter Jonson, 78.

Only two name players failed to make the championship flight, although scores were generally high.

Greenville Invitational Championship flight player in the Cotton States for the past four years had an 80.

BLANCOS

Blancos had 32 on both sides.

After paring the first two holes he birdied numbers three, four, and five, then parred in for a three under par 32.

He started off the back sine with a birdie three on the 330 yard 10th hole.

Pars on the next four holes brought him to the 560 yard 15th where he made his only bogey of the day.

After that, he birdied the final three holes.

On both 17 and 18, he holed long puts—a 60 footer on 17 and 35 footer on 18.

Following are the pairings:

LA Whips Braves On Roseboro's Hit

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers pushed across a run on Johnny Roseboro's ninth inning single and edged the Milwaukee Braves 4-3 Friday night to move to within 2½ games of the idle Cincinnati Reds.

The second-place Dodgers capitalized on three of 10 walks by Milwaukee starter Bob Buhl and reliever Don McMahon for three of their tallies.

The loss dumped the Braves into fourth place behind San Francisco, which defeated Chicago 4-3 in 14 innings. Milwaukee trails the front-running Reds by seven games.

Milwaukee scored two runs on a walk, a single and two straight wild pitches to tie the count 3-3 in the eighth, but McMahon was unable to check the Dodgers in the ninth.

Ron Fairly worked McMahon for a walk and went to second on Frank Howard's sacrifice. Roseboro then drilled a sharp grounder through the middle, scoring Fairly with the decisive run.

The victory was credited to reliever Dick Farrell, the third Los Angeles pitcher, whose two wild pitches presented the Braves with their two runs in the eighth.

Farrell's record is 8-6. McMahon, who took over after Buhl was lifted for a pinch hitter in the seventh, was charged with the defeat, his second, compared with eight victories.

Birds Beaten By Cleveland; Power Stars

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Cleveland Indians ruined the managerial debut of Baltimore's Luman Harris Friday night, whipping the Orioles 5-4 despite three Baltimore homers.

Harris was named interim manager of the Orioles, replacing Paul Richards who resigned.

Vic Power knocked in three runs for the Indians with a pair of singles, and scored their final run when Oriole loser Chuck Estrada balked as Power attempted to steal home in the third inning.

Brooks Robinson hit two homers and Whitey Herzog slugged another, all with the bases empty, for Baltimore.

Barry Latman, who was removed after six innings because of a blister, was the winning pitcher. Reliefer Frank Funk retired nine of the last 10 batters, striking out four.

Winnsboro and Lake Providence found each other's 10 yard line but couldn't muster the punch to score.

Lake Providence back Dupree got their first score in the game with Newellton, on a one-yard plunge over tackle after a 72 yard march that took 12 plays. With three minutes left to go, Lake Providence recovered a fumble on Newellton's 15. Overby cracked the line for one, then romped 14 yards for the final marker.

Tackle Billy Ross Graves and Guard Donald Hodge turned the best line work for Tallulah.

At Bossier City

BOSSIER CITY (Special) — Coach Billy Maxwell's Bossier City Bearkat's scored a 7-0 victory over the Winnfield Tigers in the feature game of the Bossier City Lion's club football jamboree here last night.

Henry Keith picked off a Sicily Island pass on the Tigers 24-yard line and streaked home for Plain Dealing's second marker. Chandler's kick was good as the Lions took a 13-0 half edge.

Sicily Island got its only mark on on the last play of the game when Albert Krause pitched a 25 yard pass to end Benton Blackman. The PAT failed.

At Ruston

RUSTON (Special) — Ruston's Annual Jamboree was a hard-hitting, strong defensive affair with all three games ending with identical 6-0 scores.

In the first game Ruston's "B" Team defeated Bernice 6-0 on halfback Billy Ray Abney's 22 yard run. The attempted kick for the extra point was no good.

Homer threatened to score in the closing minutes when they got their passing attact to clicking but time ran out before they could reach paydirt.

Cannon Returns Punt 58-Yards As Houston Rolls

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Houston's Oilers used three spectacular first half touchdowns as a springboard to a 42-10 victory over the Denver Broncos in an American Football League exhibition game before 10,067 Friday night.

George Blanda, veteran quarterback, ignited two of the scores with brilliant passes, one to Bill Groman for 84 yards and another to Charles Hennigan for 67 yards.

Boston Wins As Cappelletti Stars

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Gino Cappelletti capped a full evening of scoring for Boston with a 35-yard field goal in the last two minutes to defeat winless Buffalo 15-12 in an American Football League exhibition Friday night.

The former Minnesota halfback did all the scoring for the Patriots with three field goals and a 31-yard touchdown pass reception from quarterback Babe Parilli.

The Patriots broke the scoring ice after a futile first period. Parilli hit Cappelletti on the Buffalo 3, and Cappy wormed his way into the end zone.

The Bills came right back with a score on a 12-play, 80-yard drive. Wray Carlton capped the drive with a three-yard sweep. Billy Atkins put the Bills in front with a successful conversion kick.

Cappelletti put the Patriots back in front two minutes later with a 17-yard field goal. Cappy's other field goal came midway in the last period, sailing 32 yards.

Buffalo picked up two surprise points in the third quarter when Boston halfback Ray Ratkowski took a kickoff in the end zone, ran out, then decided against running and stepped back into the end zone for a safety.

Eagles-Hogs

CROSSETT, Ark. (Special) — The Crossette Eagles and the Texarkana Razerbacks battled to a scoreless tie in a game played at Forrest Field Friday night.

Although a light rain fell Friday afternoon, the playing field was in perfect shape.

The teams were extremely evenly matched and battled up and down the field with neither being able to find a weakness in the other's defense.

Crossette mustered the longest drive of the game in the fourth quarter when they drove 51 yards from their own 20 yard line before losing the ball on a fumble.

The Eagles attempted eight passes, completed one for six yards, chalked up seven first downs, gained 105 yards rushing and lost 10 yards on penalties.

Tekarkana attempted seven passes, completed one for 15 yards, also had seven first downs, gained 128 yards rushing and lost 15 yards on penalites.

Roger Maris, Mickey Mantle, Jim Gentile and Rocky Colavito were the first American Leaguers to drive home 100 runs this season.

Neville Returns 2 Starters But Same Taste Of Victory

[illegible] the same old story this year when the Tigers are fielding a characteristic Neville squad [illegible] and tough, inexperienced but [illegible] Rupple will undoubtedly do better than he predicts.

ROUGH JOB

In the line Neville may be strongest at tackle where they have two college-sized boys to [illegible] But here too the [illegible] be experience.

[illegible] Ralph Roberts [illegible] 140-pound fullback [illegible] the Neville squad. He's [illegible] fast and should be even better this season.

[illegible] Jimmy Howard [illegible] Howard weighs only 134.

GOOD PASSER

Jerry Jones, a 152-pound senior, will take over as signal caller this year. Jones could develop into a good high school passer.

Bob Duncan, a 190-pound senior tackle, is one of the college-sized linemen. Duncan is fast, rugged and a good defensive player. He's the boy the Tiger coaching staff is depending on to shape up both offensive and defensive play.

The other is big John Segars, a 215-pounder and the heaviest boy on the squad.

Neville will be strong at the tackles if these two boys come through. If they don't, then the Tiger T-formation attack will be hurting.

The one experienced lineman is end Herschel Walker. A 140-pounder, Walker might be the lightest terminal in District 2-AA, but could also be one of the finest. A tough competitor, Walker started every game last year as a [illegible] best season.

Tommy Sparks, 18-pound junior, will start at center, after being sidelined most of last fall with sickness. He played enough to letter last year, and should develop into a fine pivot man, barring injury or more illness.

Two lightweight guards, Andy Mapp (160) and Steve Jefferson (145) take over this year. Mapp, the only starter this fall who didn't letter last year, is a junior, while Jefferson is a senior.

Bunzy Byrant (160) will be the starting left end, according to preseason performance. A letterman last year, Byrant is the best pass receiver on the team. When Neville moves through the air, Bryant will probably do most of the receiving.

Rupple counts on Nick White, a 165-pound junior, to bolster the center of the Tiger defensive line from a middle guard position. White plays right tackle on offense and will spell either Segars or Duncan.

PROSPECTS

Tiger supporters can hardly expect a duplication of last year's record this fall. But opponents can hardly expect the Tigers to roll over and play dead, either.

Neville, under one of the best coaching staffs in the district, will be a contender this year whether it looks like one on paper or not.

Which is really nothing very new.

Pirates Sign Star

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates announced Friday the signing of James Michael Derrick, 18, of West Columbia, S.C., to a bonus contract. The amount was not disclosed.

Derrick, a star outfielder-first baseman for Brooklyn Casey High School, will join the Pirates' [illegible] farm team next spring. Batavia is in the Class D [illegible] Pennsylvania League.

The Easter Baseball Tournament was started in 1959 with [illegible] teams and was expanded to six the next year. Teams from the Southwest, Southeastern, Oklahoma Intercollegiate and Gulf States conferences have participated in the tourney.

One hundred and forty-seven football coaches attended the first Northeast Coaching Clinic in March of this year. John Bridgers, head grid coach at Baylor, and LSU assistants Charles McClendon and George Terry were the clinic's lecturers. The clinic was climaxed by the annual Maroon-Gold spring football game.

Rowan, athletic director and head football coach, is assisted by aides Leon Manley, George Luttey, Jim Coats and Bob DeMoss. Luttey also serves as baseball coach, Coats as tennis mentor and DeMoss as golf coach. Lenny Fant tutors the Northeast basketball teams and Bob Groseclose is track coach.

In addition to its intercollegiate athletics, Northeast also has a well-rounded intramural sports program conducted through the Health and Physical Education Department, whose chairman is Alva S. Huffman. Directed by Robert L. Murdock Jr., associate professor of health and physical education, the intramural program sponsors four major sports—touch football, basketball, volley ball and softball—and five individual sports—tennis, ping pong, golf, horseshoes and badminton.

Over 1,400 students participated in intramurals during the 1960-61 term. Two leagues, the Organizational League, which is limited to organized campus groups such as fraternities, and the Indenendent League, consisting of teams made up mostly of commuting students, have competition in the four major sports while an ROTC league has competition in touch football and basketball. A Dormitory League is planned for the 1961-62 school year.

COLT GM

Oriole Boss Gone; Heads For Texas

BALTIMORE (AP) — A baseball era ended in Baltimore Friday as Manager Paul Richards hung up his No. 12 Oriole uniform to become general manager of the new Houston team in the National League.

Oriole officials announced after a conference with Richards that his resignation was being accepted immediately "in the best interests of everyone concerned."

Richards announced his resignation as Baltimore's $50,000-a-year manager on Tuesday but it had been expected he would finish out the season here.

Coach Lumas Harris was named interim manager for the remainder of the season.

Richards is expected to sign a five-year contract at 60,000 or more a year with the Houston Colts, who will join the expanded National League next year.

He is ending 16 years in the American League—seven with the Orioles—just when many observers believe he was on the threshold of having a championship team.

Coming here from the Chicago White Sox in 1955, he took over a seventh-place team that had lost 300 games in three years. His development of the Orioles into a second-place team last season won him the 1960 manager of the year award.

The Orioles are third this year, and many forecasters expect the young club to be a contender for years to come.

The 52-year-old Texan came here as both general manager and field boss. He held the dual role until 1959 when Lee MacPhail joined the Orioles from the New York Yankee organization.

Richards' first big step as Oriole general manager was to engineer a deal that sent pitchers Bob Turley and Don Larsen and infielder Billy Hunter to the Yankees for nine men including Gus Triandos, Gene Woodling, Willy Miranda and Hal Smith.

His feeling was there had to be many changes to make a seventh-place team into a contender and he might as well start with a whopper. Looking back, he feels the deal was a big help.

Many Baltimore fans didn't, however.

But if the "Waxahachie Wizard" had his critics, he also had his worshippers. Usually, there seemed to be no middle-ground.

He was often criticized of over-managing. He liked to juggle relief pitchers, play two-platoon baseball. He introduced the big catcher's mitt for handling knuckleballs. His differences of opinions with umpires brought frequent rejections.

Richards began his professional career at the age of 17 out of Waxachachie High School. He began as a third baseman at Pittsfield, Mass., later played the infield and caught for 13 other minor and major league clubs.

He started managing in 1938 with Atlanta of the Southern Association, managed Buffalo in the International League from 1947-49, Seattle of the Pacific Coast League in 1950 and the White Sox from 1951-54.

In four years at Chicago, his "go-go" Sox finished fourth once and third three times.

The Orioles are not expected to name a new manager until the end of the season, but one of the names mentioned as a possibility is the current White Sox manager, Al Lopez.

L. A. Scores 5 Runs In 4th, Down A's, 6-4

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Angels scored five runs on six straight hits and a sacrifice fly in the fourth inning and defeated the Kansas City Athletics, 6-4, Friday.

Reliever Tom Morgan shut out the Athletics for 4 2-3 innings and got the victory, his seventh in nine decisions. Since June 20, Morgan has made 21 relief appearances, pitched 44 innings, and allowed only five earned runs.

The Angels trailed 2-0 after 3½ innings. Then Leon Wagner, Steve Bilko, Lee Thomas, George Thomas and Joe Koppe got consecutive singles off Norm Bass, and Ed Sadowski got a double off reliever Bill Fischer. A sacrifice fly by Angel starter Eli Grba brought in the fifth run of the inning.

The Angels got an insurance run when Bilko hit his 18th homer in the fifth off Joe Nuxhall. Deron Johnson homered for the athletics.

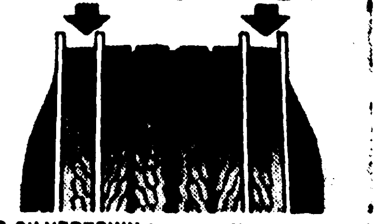
THE BIG EDGE puts B.F.Goodrich Silvertown miles ahead of other tires!

NARROW EDGE

OTHER TIRES have narrow edges, as this diagram shows. Following tradition, the rubber is concentrated in the center ribs. But in today's driving, that's a "dead center," where tire wear is least. Look at your own tires, and you'll see the first signs of wear are on the outside edges.

THE BIG EDGE



BFG SILVERTOWN has a radical new tread design—with up to twice as much rubber as other major-brand, first-line tires in the outside edges of the tread. That's where today's tires work most, wear most. It's The Big Edge—and a big edge in safety and mileage for you!

DON'T BUY ANY TIRE UNTIL YOU SEE THE BIG EDGE DEMONSTRATION AT YOUR B.F.GOODRICH DEALER'S. Ask your BFG dealer to show you the revealing glass highway photos. Compare the Silvertown Big Edge tread with any other tire at the same price. See why it's miles ahead of other tires!

Oriole Boss Gone; Heads For Texas

BALTIMORE (AP) — A baseball era ended in Baltimore Friday as Manager Paul Richards hung up his No. 12 Oriole uniform to become general manager of the new Houston team in the National League.

Oriole officials announced after a conference with Richards that his resignation was being accepted immediately "in the best interests of everyone concerned."

Richards announced his resignation as Baltimore's $50,000-a-year manager on Tuesday but it had been expected he would finish out the season here.

Coach Luman Harris was named interim manager for the remainder of the season.

Richards is expected to sign a five-year contract at 60,000 or more a year with the Houston Colts, who will join the expanded National League next year.

He is ending 16 years in the American League—seven with the Orioles—just when many observers believe he was on the threshold of having a championship team.

Coming here from the Chicago White Sox in 1955, he took over a seventh-place team that had lost 300 games in three years. His development of the Orioles into a second-place team last season won him the 1960 manager of the year award.

The Orioles are third this year, and many forecasters expect the young club to be a contender for years to come.

The 52-year-old Texan came here as both general manager and field boss. He held the dual role until 1959 when Lee MacPhail joined the Orioles from the New York Yankee organization.

Richards' first big step as Oriole general manager was to engineer a deal that sent pitchers Bob Turley and Don Larsen and infielder Billy Hunter to the Yankees for nine men including Gus Triandos, Gene Woodling, Willy Miranda and Hal Smith.

His feeling was there had to be many changes to make a seventh-place team into a contender and he might as well start with a whopper. Looking back, he feels the deal was a big help.

Many Baltimore fans didn't, however.

But if the "Waxahachie Wizard" had his critics, he also had his worshippers. Usually, there seemed to be no middle-ground.

He was often criticized of over-managing. He liked to juggle relief pitchers, play two-platoon baseball. He introduced the big catcher's mitt for handling knuckleballs. His differences of opinions with umpires brought frequent rejections.

Richards began his professional career at the age of 17 out of Waxachachie High School. He began as a third baseman at Pittsfield, Mass., later played the infield and caught for 13 other minor and major league clubs.

He started managing in 1938 with Atlanta of the Southern Association, managed Buffalo in the International League from 1947-49, Seattle of the Pacific Coast League in 1950 and the White Sox from 1951-54.

In four years at Chicago, his "go-go" Sox finished fourth once and third three times.

The Orioles are not expected to name a new manager until the end of the season, but one of the names mentioned as a possibility is the current White Sox manager, Al Lopez.

L. A. Scores 5 Runs In 4th, Down A's, 6-4

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Angels scored five runs on six straight hits and a sacrifice fly in the fourth inning and defeated the Kansas City Athletics, 6-4, Friday.

Reliever Tom Morgan shut out the Athletics for 4 2-3 innings and got the victory, his seventh in nine decisions. Since June 20, Morgan has made 21 relief appearances, pitched 44 innings, and allowed only five earned runs.

The Angels trailed 2-0 after 3½ innings. Then Leon Wagner, Steve Bilko, Lee Thomas, George Thomas and Joe Koppe got consecutive singles off Norm Bass, and Ed Sadowski got a double off reliever Bill Fischer. A sacrifice fly by Angel starter Eli Grba brought in the fifth run of the inning.

The Angels got an insurance run when Bilko hit his 18th homer in the fifth off Joe Nuxhall. Deron Johnson homered for the athletics.

S. F. Squeezes By Cubs, 4-3 In 14 Innings

CHICAGO (AP)—Rookie shortstop Ernie Bowman's triple after Joe Amalfitano's single with two out in the 14th gave the San Francisco Giants a 4-3 victory Friday over the Chicago Cubs.

The overtime setback spoiled the head coach debut of the Cubs' Lou Klein.

The Giant triumph only their second in eight games, nullified back-to-back homers for all three Cub runs in the third by Andre Rodgers and Cuno Barragan.

The Giants had tied the score 3-3 with an unearned run in the eighth.

The 29-year-old Barragan's solo blast came on his first major league time at bat.

Winner was the sixth Giant pitcher, Billy Loes, who took over from Don Zanni in the 13th with the bases loaded and two out. Zanni opened the 13th following starter Dick LeMay, Stu Miller, Bobby Bolin and Billy O'Dell.

Loser was the fourth Cub hurler, Don Elston, who opened the 14th. Glenn Hobbie started, but had to be relieved by Bob Anderson in the seventh. Anderson was succeeded by Barney Schultz opening the 12th.

LeMay hurriedly got the starting mound call for the Giants when Sam Jones, scheduled starter, was forced to the sidelines with a stiff neck.

ALWAYS TOUGH

Neville Returns 2 Starters But Same Taste Of Victory

(Last in a series on local grid prospects.)

Neville High mentor Bill Ruple is crying the blues agin, but he's not finding many takers.

The crafty Ruple, who can exact a maximum of performance from a minimum of talent, had everybody foxed last year when he lost practically everybody from his State championship AA team.

He claimed the Tigers were doomed, then led them to eleven victories and the state semifinals before a one - point defeated stopped the steamroller.

It's the same old story this year. The Tigers are fielding a characteristic Neville squad - light and tough, inexperienced but anxious. And Ruple will undoubtedly do better than he predicts.

ROUGH JOB

However, the job will call for all the football wizardry the old master can call up.

Of the 13 lettermen returning only two were starters last year.

The backfield situation appears most serious. Ruple has only one starter returning from one of the state's best running quartets and last year's reserves must take over quickly to keep the offense up to par.

If the spring practice game was indication, they will. Ruple turned loose a stablefull of fast horses that night.

In the line Neville may be strongest at tackle where they have two college - sized boys to bolster the wall. But here too the problem will be experience.

Speedy Ralph Roberts is the returnee. The 140 - pound fullback typifies the Neville squad. He's light, but fast and should be even better this season.

At left half will be Jimmy Howard. Howard weights only 174.

Opposite him is Robert Payne, the heaviest starter behind the line at 155. Payne is a hard, shifty runner and starred in the spring practice game.

GOOD PASSER

Jerry Jones, a 152 - pound senior, will take over as signal - caller this year. Jones could develop into a good high school passer.

Bob Duncan, a 190 - pound senior tackle, is one of the college - sized linemen. Duncan is fast, rugged, and a good defensive player. He's the boy the Tiger coaching staff is depending on to shape up both offensive and defensive play.

The other is big John Segars, a 245 - pounder and the heaviest boy on the squad.

Neville will be strong at the tacles if these two boys come through. If they don't, then the Tiger T-formation attack will be hurting.

The one experienced lineman is end Herschel Walker. A 140 - pounder, Walker might be the lightest terminal in District 2-AA, but could also be one of the finest. A tough competitor, Walker started every game last year as a junior. This should be his best season.

Tommy Sparks, 187-pound junior, will start at center, after being sidelined most of last fall with sickness. He played enough to letter last year, and should develop into a fine pivot man, barring injury or more illness.

Two lightweight guards, Andy Mapp (169) and Steve Jefferson (145) take over this year. Mapp, the only starter this fall who didn't letter last year, is a junior, while Jefferson is a senior.

Bunzy Byrant (160) will be the starting left end, according to preseason performance. A letterman last year, Byrant is the best pass receiver on the team. When Nevville moves through the air, Bryant will probably do most of the receiving.

Ruple counts on Nick White, a 165-pound junior, to bolster the center of the Tiger defensive line from a middle guard position. White plays right tackle on offense and will spell either Segars or Duncan.

PROSPECTS

Tiger supporters can hardly expect a duplication of last year's record this fall. But opponents can hardly expect the Tigers to roll over and play dead, either.

Neville, under one of the best coaching staffs in the district, will be a contender this year whether it looks like one on paper or not.

Which is really nothing very new.

NE Athletics Reach A New High In '60-61

Northeast Louisiana State College's athletic program which has greatly widened its scope during the past few years, reached its highest level during the 1960-61 school term when the college fielded full teams in all major sports for the first time.

Northeast's record in football, cross country, basketball, baseball, track, golf and tennis in Gulf States Conference competition last season gave the school third place in the standings for the GSC All Sports Trophy, awarded annually on the basis of rankings in the seven sports. Northeast's third-place finish was the highest in the history of the college.

First expansion of the Northeast athletic program began in 1957-58 when a full-fledged track program was set up, a program that paid off with a share of the GSC cross country championship in 1958 and track titles in 1959 and 1960.

Golf was inaugurated in 1958 and tennis was added to the program in 1959-60 with Northeast entering conference competition for the first time in 1961.

The Northeast Athletic Department, headed by Director Jack Rowan, currently sponsors the Christmas Basketball Tournament, the Easter Baseball Tournament and the Northeast Coaching Clinic. The cage tourney was began in 1959 and annually features Northeast and three other teams in a two-day meet.

The Easter Baseball Tournament was started in 1959 with our teams and was expanded to six the next year. Teams from the Southwest, Southeastern, Oklahoma Intercollegiate and Gulf States conferences have participated in the tourney.

One - hundred and forty - seven football coaches attended the first Northeast Coaching Clinic in March of this year. John Bridgers, head grid coach at Baylor, and LSU assistants Charles McClendon and George Terry were the clinic's lecturers. The clinic was climaxed by the annual Maroon-Gold spring football game.

Rowan, athletic director and head football coach, is assisted by aides Leon Manley, George Luffey, Jim Coats and Bob DeMoss. Luffey also serves as baseball coach, Coats as tennis mentor and DeMoss as golf coach. Lenny Fant tutors the Northeast basketball teams and Bob Groseclose is track coach.

In addition to its intercollegiate athletics, Northeast also has a well - rounded intramural sports program conducted through the Health and Physical Education Department, whose chairman is Alva S. Huffman. Directed by Robert L. Murdock Jr., associate professor of health and physical education, the intramural program sponsors four major sports —touch football, basketball, volley ball and softball—and five individual sports—tennis, ping pong, golf, horseshoes and badminton.

Over 1,400 students participated in intramurals during the 1960-61 term. Two leagues, the Organizational League, which is limited to organized campus groups such as fraternities, and the Indenendent League, consisting of teams made up mostly of commuting students, have competition in the four major sports while an ROTC league has competition in touch football and basketball. A Dormitory League is planned for the 1961-62 school year.

Pirates Sign Star

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates announced Friday the signing of James Michael Derrick, 18, of West Columbia, S.C., to a bonus contract. The amount was not disclosed.

Derrick, a star outfielder-first baseman for Brooklyn Casey High School, will join the Pirates' Batavia, N.Y., farm team next spring. Batavia is in the Class D New York - Pennsylvania League.

Fight Set

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Carlos Ortiz and Douglas Valliant, second and third contenders for the lightweight boxing championship in Ring Magazine ratings, will meet in a 10-rounder at the Miami Beach Auditorium Saturday night.

Ortiz is an 8-5 favorite to win the fight which will be nationally televised starting at 9 p.m., EST.

The native Puerto Rican, who fights out of the Bronx, will be going for his 39th victory against four defeats. In his last appearance, he dropped a 15-round decision to Duilio Loi, junior welterweight champion, at Milan, Italy.

Vaillant, lightweight champion of Cuba, has a record of 24 wins, two defeats and four draws.

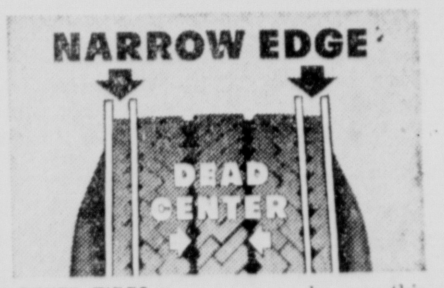
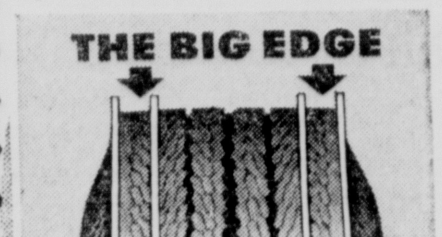
THE BIG EDGE puts B.F.Goodrich Silvertown miles ahead of other tires!



OTHER TIRES have narrow edges, as this diagram shows. Following tradition, the rubber is concentrated in the center ribs. But in today's driving, that's a "dead center," where tire wear is least. Look at your own tires, and you'll see the first signs of wear are on the outside edges.



BFG SILVERTOWN has a radical new tread design—with up to twice as much rubber as other major-brand, first-line tires in the outside edges of the tread. That's where today's tires work most, wear most. It's The Big Edge—and a big edge in safety and mileage for you!

MILES AHEAD IN MILEAGE AND SAFETY! The amazing glass highway, shown in the small photograph above, was built by B.F.Goodrich to study tire wear under actual driving conditions. Pictures shot from beneath this highway—like the larger photo above of a turning tire—let you see the severe distortion that takes place in the outside edges of the tread. Notice how little action there is in the center ribs. Thousands of pictures taken show the outside edges work most and wear most, whether you're turning a corner, driving on the highway, passing or stopping. That's vitally important to every driver who's looking for the most tire for his money. Of all the major-brand, first-line tires, only B.F.Goodrich Silvertowns have extra rubber in the outside edges. Up to twice as much rubber as the others! That's The Big Edge—and it means a big edge in mileage and safety for you!

DON'T BUY ANY TIRE UNTIL YOU SEE THE BIG EDGE DEMONSTRATION AT YOUR B.F.GOODRICH DEALER'S. Ask your BFG dealer to show you the revealing glass highway photos. Compare the Silvertown Big Edge tread with any other tire at the same price. See why it's miles ahead of other tires!

Yankees Win, 1-0; "M" Boys Hittless

By JOE RICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees, shut out on five hits for eight innings by southpaw Don Mossi, broke up a scoreless duel in the ninth on consecutive two-out singles by Elston Howard, Yogi Berra and Bill Skowron Friday night for a 1-0 victory over the second-place Detroit Tigers.

The victory, coming with a packed Yankee Stadium house of 65,566—largest single game crowd of the season in the majors—sent the Yankees into a 2½-game lead in the American League race with two more games to be played in their showdown series.

Luis Arroyo, the Yankee bullpen ace, was the winning pitcher as the third of three southpaws who collaborated for a seven-hit shutout over the Bengals. The knuckleballing Cuban put down the Tigers in order in the ninth

Maris-Mantle vs. Ruth
By The Associated Press

The following table shows how Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle of New York compare with the record pace of Babe Ruth in 1927:

Maris	51	139	Aug. 26

for his 12th victory against three defeats after following Whitey Ford and Bud Daley to the mound. It was Luis' 10th straight success.

Ford, the majors' top winner with a 22-3 record, had to leave with two out in the fifth inning when he complained of a strained hip muscle. While not serious enough an injury, apparently, to interrupt Ford's role in the pitching rotation, Ford departed for Daley, who got the final out in the frame.

Mossi, now 14-4 with an 0-2 record against the Yankees, was magnificent in defeat. He struck out seven, three times fanning Mickey Mantle and once striking out Roger Maris.

In the ninth, after leaving a Yankee runner on third base in the eighth inning, Mossi retired Maris on a fly to right and then put a called third strike past Mantle for the second time.

Howard then banged his second single to center and Berra followed with a single to right center that sent Howard to third. Skowron followed with a shot through the hole between third and short

THREE LEADERS

Dallas Open Tied After First Round

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, the year's big tournament winner; Johnny Pott, the defending champion, and Earl Stewart, the home pro, shot 3-under-par 67s to tie for the first round lead in the $30,000 Dallas Open.

All were putting like magic, particularly Stewart, who had an amazing 11 one-putt greens, and only 24 putts all the way round.

And Stewart woundup with a 90-foot chip from off the green for a birdie on 18.

High winds and rough greens caused the scores to soar generally in the field of 140, with Gary Player, the year's leading money winner, having to settle for a 72.

But a dozen of the tour hotshots lipped par over the 6,800-yard Oak Cliff Country Club course.

Jerry Pittman of Tulsa, Okla., Gene Mitchell Jr. of Lubbock, Tex., and Charles Siford, the first Negro to play in an open tournament in Texas, all posted 68s while veteran Jim Ferrier and Howard Johnson had 69s.

Palmer was putting well generally but it was a 3-putt effort on the second hold that kept him from leading the tournament. He missed a 5-footer on No. 7 but otherwise was rolling them in with abandon. He had two 20-footers for birdies.

Pott missed the green on No. 4 for a bogey after chipping within a foot on No. 2 for a birdie. From then on, he was going great guns. He had a 25-footer and a 16-footer in his putting collection.

Doug Sanders, the third leading money winner—Player is No. 1 and Palmer No. 2—shot a steady 70.

Russell Denies Trade

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Tom Russell, Nebraska's 6-foot 8-inch Missouri in an academic trade.

Missouri and Nebraska recently agreed on an exchange of students in six fields of specialized study where only one of the two schools offers particular courses.

A counselor at the college of agriculture said a four-hour credit course in wildlife management needed by Russell is one of those offered by Missouri.

But Russell said the whole thing was news to him. "I certainly don't want to go to Missouri; I've got too much here at Nebraska to want to leave," he said.

U.S. Golfers Lead In Walker Cup

SEATTLE (AP)—British Walker Cup strategy was exploded by a pair of American ancients Friday with the result that the United States swept all four foursome matches and now needs only three of Saturday's eight singles to retain the international amateur golf trophy for another two years.

Bob Cochran, 49-year-old from St. Louis, Mo., and 48-year-old Gene Andrews of Pacific Palisades, Calif., defeated Mike Bonallack, British amateur champion, and Ronnie Shade, 4 and 3.

Charles Lawrie, captain of the British team, deliberately had paired Bonallack and Shade, his No. 1 twosome, against the two elders making their cup debut in hopes of avoiding the foursome engineered in taking the cup for the 16th time in 17 previous meetings two years ago.

And he also put Jimmy Walker, the laughing cop from Scotland, and Brian Chapman, a newcomer, against the admitted American best, Deane Beman, 23, of Arlington, Va., and Jack Nicklaus, 21, of Columbus, Ohio. The American youngsters slaughtered their foes, 6 and 5, after being 8 up at 27.

The other U.S. triumphs in the foursomes, where the teams use one ball and the players hit alternate shots, were registered by Charles Coe of Oklahoma City and Don Cherry, the singing Texan, 1 up, over Maj. David Blair and Martin Christmas; and Bob Gardner of New York and Bill Hyndman of Philadelphia, over Joe Carr of Ireland and Gordon Huddy, former Cambridge ace, 4 and 3.

Yankees Win, 1-0; "M" Boys Hittless

By JOE RICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees, shut out on five hits for eight innings by southpaw Don Mossi, broke up a scoreless duel in the ninth on consecutive two-out singles by Elston Howard, Yogi Berra and Bill Skowron Friday night for a 1-0 victory over the second-place Detroit Tigers.

The victory, coming with a packed Yankee Stadium house of 65,566—largest single game crowd of the season in the majors—sent the Yankees into a 2½-game lead in the American League race with two more games to be played in their showdown series.

Luis Arroyo, the Yankee bullpen ace, was the winning pitcher as the third of three southpaws who collaborated for a seven-hit shutout over the Bengals. The knuckleballing Cuban put down the Tigers in order in the ninth

Maris-Mantle vs. Ruth
By The Associatde Press

The following table shows how Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle of New York compare with the record pace of Babe Ruth in 1927:

Player	Homer Numer	team Decisions	Date hit
Maris	51	133	Aug. 26
xMantle	48	133	Aug. 31
Ruth	51	138	Sept. 13

x—Tied with Ruth's pace

for his 12th victory against three defeats after following Whitey Ford and Bud Daley to the mound. It was Luis' 10th straight success.

Ford, the majors' top winner with a 22-3 record, had to leave with two out in the fifth inning when he complained of a strained hip muscle. While not serious enough an injury, apparently, to interrupt Ford's role in the pitching rotation, Ford departed for Daley, who got the final out in the frame.

Mossi, now 14-4 with an 0-2 record against the Yankees, was magnificent in defeat. He struck out seven, three times fanning Mickey Mantle and once striking out Roger Maris.

In the ninth, after leaving a Yankee runner on third base in the eighth inning, Mossi retired Maris on a fly to right and then put a called third strike past Mantle for the second time.

Howard then banged his second single to center and Berra followed with a single to right center that sent Howard to third. Skowron followed with a shot through the hole between third and short.

THREE LEADERS

Dallas Open Tied After First Round

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, the year's big tournament winner; Johnny Pott, the defending champion, and Earl Stewart, the home pro, shot 3-under-par 67s to tie for the first round lead in the $30,000 Dallas Open.

All were putting like magic, particularly Stewart, who had an amazing 11 one-putt greens, and only 24 putts all the way round.

And Stewart woundup with a 90-foot chip from off the green for a birdie on 18.

High winds and rough greens caused the scores to soar generally in the field of 140, with Gary Player, the year's leading money winner, having to settle for a 72.

But a dozen of the tour hotshots lipped par over the 6,800-yard Oak Cliff Country Club course.

Jerry Pittman of Tulsa, Okla., Gene Mitchell Jr. of Lubbock, Tex., and Charles Siford, the first Negro to play in an open tournament in Texas, all posted 68s while veteran Jim Ferrier and Howard Johnson had 69s.

Palmer was putting well generally but it was a 3-putt effort on the second hold that kept him from leading the tournament. He missed a 5-footer on No. 7 but otherwise was rolling them in with abandon. He had two 20-footers for birdies.

Pott missed the green on No. 4 for a bogey after chipping within a foot on No. 2 for a birdie. From then on, he was going great guns. He had a 25-footer and a 16-footer in his putting collection.

Doug Sanders, the third leading money winner—Player is No. 1 and Palmer No. 2—shot a steady 70.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy says he wants Americans to drive with patience and a clear head on this highway-packed Labor Day weekend.

Millions will travel the highway this weekend "visiting, sightseeing, recreationing," the President said. He asked everyone to drive "with consideration for the rights of others, giving exemplary support to effective traffic enforcement."

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

Many a parent has become so self-concious about what to do to discipline her child, that she loses sight of the value of spontaneity. That is, the value of an act done right on the heels of the child's behavior and consistent with it.

When a child sees that his conduct arouses anger in the parent or dismay, or revulsion, this is impressive to him. When a mother fears to show her emotions in a natural way, the child gets the idea that what he has done is unimportant or that he can "get away" with it.

If behavior needs to be stopped, stop it. There is no specific way that this needs to be done — except to avoid brutality in any form.

Letter

Mrs. G. P. R. writes:

Dear Mrs. Eldred:

Since our new baby arrived, we have had a time with our [illegible]-year-old son. He has always [illegible] in a crib. We bought a youth's bed for him so we could put the baby in his crib. But he [illegible]. He insists upon [illegible] into our bed. He always [illegible] when I feed the baby about 10:30, and then he comes into [illegible] we try to remove him.

At bedtime he always promises [illegible] in his bed, but so far he hasn't. I suppose this is a form of jealousy, and I admit I don't know exactly how to handle it. It's a very trying situation."

ANSWER

Then show him that it is. This is your bed and you have the right to sleep in it. The youth's bed is his and that is where he belongs for many obvious reasons.

Take him back, if it demands a dozen trips, until he is certain that you won't let him sleep in your bed. Tell him, gently, that in the morning you will invite him to your bed as soon as you wake up. But until then he must sleep in his.

All children enjoy sleeping with their parents. They feel safe, and in winter they enjoy the warmth, but this does not mean they should have this privilege.

Some of this difficulty might have been avoided had you accustomed him to the youth's bed well in advance of the baby's coming. Then he would not have felt so injured at the loss of his bed that he had to demand the comfort of yours.

If you would like our booklet "The First Six Months," send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

SIX DIE IN FLOODING

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Six persons perished, two houses were washed [illegible] and 30 more houses inundated in Seoul Friday during a heavy [illegible], police reported.

HOW ABOUT breakfast on the patio to show your Labor Day week-end guests a true "taste" of Monroe hospitality? Place mats of felt cut to match the unusual shape of the tables are in orange and yellow here. Color is repeated in the "hanging" centerpiece of fruit and flowers, and match the floral motif on the plates. An old tool box holds bread sticks, and, as is usual on an outdoor table, colorful containers for food replace a more conventional non-functional centerpiece.

Lewis Patio Scene Of Coffee Today

A gala coffee hour will be held on te enclosed patio of Mrs. Tony Lewis' home at 2406 Marie Place this morning from 9:00 until 10:00 a.m. for the Ladies of the National Federation of Young Men's Club.

Hostesses with Mrs. Lewis for the event are Mrs. J. R. Parsons, Mrs. Louis Savanna, Mrs. Sam Lasuzza, Mrs. Al Embanato, Mrs. Bill Burroughs, and Mrs. Charles Horne.

Mrs. Savanna will preside over the coffee service, with Mrs. Horne and Mrs. Burroughs assisting in serving.

The table will be overlaid with an Italian cutwork cloth and centered with a Baroque container holding a mass of white and gold chrysanthemums. A silver service will be at one end with matching three tiered candelabra.

Approximately two hundred ladies are expected, and music will be by a local group.

Trees growing in sandy and loam soils seem to be struck by lightning more often than trees growing in clay, marl and calcareous soils.

YOUR PROBLEMS

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Recently I received an invitation to a bridal shower. I was told not to bring a gift, but the price of the luncheon was $[illegible]. This included the meal at a hotel and the invitation said my name would appear on the card which would be attached to the lovely gift—purchased by a committee. The reason for this unusual arrangement, according to the committee: "The bride would rather have one beautiful gift than twenty-five pieces of junk."

I told a friend who was also invited that I thought the whole thing was in pretty poor taste. She said I was "a small town hick" and that this is the way society people do it. Is this true? —FLABBERGASTED

Dear Flabber: This sounds like a donor luncheon, not a bridal shower. Such an invitation is an insult and anyone who would accept it must be desperately hard up for a party.

Dear Ann Landers: Our [illegible]-year-old daughter has had many romances but nothing serious until now. She brought the young man home to dinner last night and we were appalled.

We offered him a glass of sherry and he snorted "What's this—a Sunday School picnic? I drink bourbon." When dinner was announced he took the bottle along to the table.

He started his salad before grace was said and continued to eat during the blessing. He speared a chop off the platter with his own fork and when our daughter reached for the last one he said "That's got my name on it," and took it out of her hand.

My husband and I were mortified and we told her of our feelings after he left. She claims manners are unimportant and that his fine mind and good character count for everything. Any comment? —APPALLED

Dear Appalled: More is involved here than bad manners. The young man is selfish, inconsiderate and immature. I hope your daughter recognizes (before it's too late) that "a fine mind" counts for little alongside crippling, destructive flaws of character.

Dear Ann Landers: How right you were when you told the woman who was in love with her married boss to change jobs and not waste her precious time waiting for him to "free himself." You so wisely added "If he "were" free he'd probably marry someone else. They usually do."

For 15 years I turned my whole life over to a man who fairly dripped with charm. He was my boss. He had position, wealth—and a family. His wife was in poor health, and it sounds ghastly but I actually waited for her to die so I could marry my love.

Last October she passed away. I decided to be patient and lady-like, and wait out the "respectable" year. I held his hand, offered him solace, moral support, love and attention. Three weeks ago he gave it to me straight — "I want to remarry but it must be someone who is socially acceptable."

I was "socially acceptable" to cheat with for fifteen years, but in marriage it's a horse of a different color. Or should I say "jackass" which is what I was. FOOL OF THE CENTURY

ON STOLEN MONEY

Embezzler Objects To Federal Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bank embezzler contended Friday she should not have to pay federal taxes on the stolen money.

Burnice I. Geiger, who is serving a 15-year prison term for looting $2 million from the Sheldon National Bank, Sheldon, Iowa, is fighting a $476,696 tax deficiency assessed by the Internal Revenue Service. In addition IRS claims a 50 per cent penalty aggregating $238,348.

IRS claims Mrs. Geiger and her husband, Wallace P. Geiger, a Sheldon businessman, owe the taxes for the years 1945 to 1959, inclusive.

Their petition cited a 1945 Supreme Court decision in a case known as Commissioner vs. Wilcox which held that embezzled funds did not constitute taxable income.

The decision was overturned during the last term of the Supreme Court.

Mrs. Geiger and her husband contended the deficiencies determined by the IRS were based wholly upon income alleged to have been received by Mrs. Geiger in embezzled funds.

Not only did the Geigers argue that they owe no additional income taxes but insisted that they are entitled to a refund. The petition contends that the husband's income was overstated, and that some deductions, including those for medical expenses, were improperly disallowed. The case will be heard in Des Moines, Iowa. No date for the hearing has been set.

Traffic Deaths Show Decline Through July

CHICAGO (UPI)—The National Safety Council had encouraging news Friday as motorists prepared for the long, and often bloody, Labor Day weekend.

The council said that through July of this year, the nation was experiencing the lowest traffic death rate on record.

Traffic deaths decreased 2 per cent, despite a 1 per cent increase in travel during the seven months through July, said George Stewart, executive vice president of the council.

"The mileage death rate of 4.9 deaths per 100,000,000 vehicle miles traveled is a small but heartening improvement over the 1960 rate for the same period in 1960," he said.

The 20,290 motor vehicle deaths reported through July of this year was 330 less than for the same period last year, Stewart said. At the same time, he noted that the traffic death rate per 100,000,000 miles travel dropped from 11.3 in 1925 to 5.3 in 1960.

Stewart said July was the third consecutive month in which traffic deaths declined over the comparable month the previous year. Despite the record high July 4th weekend death toll of 519, deaths for the month dropped 4 per cent.

State Supreme Court May Fill Judge Vacancies

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The state Supreme Court may be called upon to name two more judges to serve on the First Circuit Court of Appeal here, which returns from summer vacation Sept. 24.

Judge Horace Reid of the 21st Judicial District was named several weeks ago to serve with five elected members to allow the court to divide itself into two sections and split the heavy caseload.

But Judge Robert D. Jones, Bogalusa, died recently, leaving the court with only five judges counting Reid.

This means a temporary appointment must be made to provide the two sections, already with docketed sitting Sept. 24-Oct. 4.

If Gov. Jimmie H. Davis calls an election to name a successor to Jones and Reid becomes a candidate it is possible the Supreme Court would name a substitute for him.

The third district includes East and West Feliciana, Livingston, St. Helena, St. Tammany, and Washington parishes.

4 Catahoulans Attend Session

JONESVILLE (Special) — Four girls representing Catahoula parish as delegates to the 21st session of Pelican Girls State on the LSU campus were Margaret Wells of Sicily Island; Carmen Boothe of Harrisonburg; Mickie Nasif of Jonesville, and Mary Keeth, Jonesville.

El Dorado Bank Founder Dies

He founded the National Bank of Commerce in 1919 and when he died was chairman of the board.

He came to El Dorado in 1903 from Kearney, Mo.

His widow and three daughters survive.

Funeral and burial will be here Saturday.

ON STOLEN MONEY

Embezzler Objects To Federal Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bank embezzler contended Friday she should not have to pay federal taxes on the stolen money.

Burnice I. Geiger, who is serving a 15-year prison term for looting $2 million from the Sheldon National Bank, Sheldon, Iowa, is fighting a $476,696 tax deficiency assessed by the Internal Revenue Service. In addition IRS claims a 50 per cent penalty aggregating $238,348.

IRS claims Mrs. Geiger and her husband, Wallace P. Geiger, a Sheldon businessman, owe the taxes for the years 1945 to 1959, inclusive.

Their petition cited a 1945 Supreme Court decision in a case known as Commissioner vs. Wilcox which held that embezzled funds did not constitute taxable income.

The decision was overturned during the last term of the Supreme Court.

Mrs. Geiger and her husband contended the deficiencies determined by the IRS were based wholly upon income alleged to have been received by Mrs. Geiger in embezzled funds.

Not only did the Geigers argue that they owe no additional income taxes but insisted that they are entitled to a refund. The petition contends that the husband's income was overstated, and that some deductions, including those for medical expenses, were improperly disallowed. The case will be heard in Des Moines, Iowa. No date for the hearing has been set.

Traffic Deaths Show Decline Through July

CHICAGO (UPI)—The National Safety Council had encouraging news Friday as motorists prepared for the long, and often bloody, Labor Day weekend.

The council said that through July of this year, the nation was experiencing the lowest traffic death rate on record.

Traffic deaths decreased 2 per cent, despite a 1 per cent increase in travel during the seven months through July, said George Stewart, executive vice president of the council.

"The mileage death rate of 4.9 deaths per 100,000,000 vehicle miles traveled is a small but heartening improvement over the 1960 rate for the same period in 1960," he said.

The 20,290 motor vehicle deaths reported through July of this year was 330 less than for the same period last year, Stewart said. At the same time, he noted that the traffic death rate per 100,000,000 miles travel dropped from 11.3 in 1925 to 5.3 in 1960.

Stewart said July was the third consecutive month in which traffic deaths declined over the comparable month the previous year. Despite the record high July 4th weekend death toll of 519, deaths for the month dropped 4 per cent.

4 Catahoulans Attend Session

JONESVILLE (Special) — Four girls representing Catahoula parish as delegates to the 21st session of Pelican Girls State on the LSU campus were Margaret Wells of Sicily Island; Carmen Boothe of Harrisonburg; Mickie Nasif of Jonesville, and Mary Keeth, Jonesville.

State Supreme Court May Fill Judge Vacancies

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The state Supreme Court may be called upon to name two more judges to serve on the First Circuit Court of Appeal here, which returns from summer vacation Sept. 24.

Judge Horace Reid of the 21st Judicial District was named several weeks ago to serve with five elected members to allow the court to divide itself into two sections and split the heavy caseload.

But Judge Robert D. Jones, Bogalusa, died recently, leaving the court with only five judges counting Reid.

This means a temporary appointment must be made to provide the two sections, already with docketed sitting Sept. 24-Oct. 4.

If Gov. Jimmie H. Davis calls an election to name a successor to Jones and Reid becomes a candidate it is possible the Supreme Court would name a substitute for him.

The third district includes East and West Feliciana, Livingston, St. Helena, St. Tammany, and Washington parishes.

El Dorado Bank Founder Dies

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — Albert Rowell, veeDnEl o artroda banker, died Friday at the age of 84.

He founded the National Bank of Commerce in 1919 and when he died was chairman of the board.

He came to El Dorado in 1903 from Kearney, Mo.

His widow and three daughters survive.

Funeral and burial will be here Saturday.

Soviets Testing Super-Warhead?

WASHINGTON (AP) — A nuclear physicist speculated Friday that the Soviet nuclear blast might have been a test of a superwarhead for a minuteman-type intercontinental ballistic missile. He said it might be designed for knocking out American ICBM bases in some future surprise attack.

Another possibility, said Dr. Ralph Lapp, is that the Soviets may have been testing a trigger for thermonuclear warheads for a Minuteman-type of missile.

That was Lapp's interpretation of the White House announcement that the device tested by the Soviet Union was in the "intermediate range."

He said "intermediate" would refer to anything ranging from the equivalent of 100,000 tons of TNT to one million tons.

The White House said the device [illegible] Lapp said it conceivably could be one ranging up to that class.

Lapp said the explosive range he listed, from 100,000 TNT tons to one million—would be "about the range for proof firing of a small mobile missile."

He said that if the device was one of the 100,000 type, it's likely the Soviets were testing a new-type trigger for a missile warhead.

The scientist said his speculation that the Soviets latest explosion was to test a Minuteman-type warhead is based on the following:

"With the American U2 activities already known, and the Samos spy-in-the-sky satellite pending, the Russians are no longer secure with their huge liquid-fueled ICBMs.

"Therefore I believe the Russian generals are now convinced that they will have to replace their large-yield ICBMs with smaller ones, like our Minuteman but that they intend to arm them with a superwarhead."

The American Minuteman is a three-stage solid-fuel ICBM, which Lapp estimates would carry a warhead packing a punch equal to 500,000 tons of TNT.

He says he believes the Soviets are working to develop one that could eventually carry the equivalent of between one- and two-million tons of TNT.

He said the American Minuteman would be efficient for the type targets it would be used against.

He said the Soviet Union's targets in a surprise attack would not be American cities but Atlas, Titan and Minuteman sites—underground concrete silos—in an effort to prevent any American retaliatory attack. But they would need a superwarhead to be successful.

N.O. Police To Get Extra School Duty

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The 1100-man New Orleans police force will go on a 12-hour day on Sept. 7, the same day public schools open for their second year of desegregation.

Police Supt. Joseph I. Giarrusso told a news conference Friday that areas around the two schools desegregated last fall and the four additional schools scheduled to receive Negro pupils this year will be sealed off for one block in each direction.

He said he would station around 60 men at each of the schools on the first day, although the four new schools will not be desegregated until later.

"The role of the police department is clear cut: To preserve the peace; to maintain law and order," said Giarrusso.

"No loitering or display of agitation will be tolerated," he said.

The superintendent expressed confidence that there would not be a repetition of last year's disorder when the two schools were desegregated. He put his men on a 12-hour shift for the first several weeks of desegregation. They normally work eight hours daily.

Giarrusso also established ground rules for newsmen at the schools. They will be allowed within the barricades, but not on the school grounds or in school buildings "unless conditions dictate otherwise."

Meanwhile, civic, church and school leaders Friday intensified efforts for peaceful opening of public schools. Two Sundays—Sept. 10 and Sept. 17—were set aside as special prayer days to seek a peaceable solution to the school problem.

The board of the Greater New Orleans Federation of Churches named the special days in a resolution asking New Orleans residents "by special prayer and the careful observance of Christian principles" to seek peace and order.

School Board President Louis G. Riecke, in a letter to all school employes said the desegregation issue must be resolved without impairing the high standards set in the schools.

Man Punching Williams May Be Prosecuted

LUSAKA, Northern Rhodesia (AP)—The Northern Rhodesia white man who punched G. Mennen Williams in the jaw here Monday night is going to be prosecuted, a police spokesman said Friday night.

The name of the man who socked the touring U.S. assistant secretary of state was not made public nor the charge specified.

He came roaring out of the airport bar to throw his punch—having mislaid a store of rotten eggs he claimed he bought to pelt Williams—and was subdued by members of the party seeing Williams off, including British Gov. Sir Evelyn Hone.

Williams reportedly stood the punch well, shrugged off the incident and was given apologies by white authorities.

In Louisiana, drivers' licenses fall due for renewal every two years. The motorist is required to reapply on or before his birthday.

LeBreton said his subcommittee on organization, operations and services also was seeking ways to make all traffic laws uniform in all parishes and cities.

The two plans were revealed after a meeting with Preston A. Richardson, administrator of the drivers' license division of the state Department of Public Safety.

LeBreton said the subcommittee also conferred about the proposals with Col. Thomas Burbank, state police superintendent.

Rep. Jack Rau, Jefferson Parish, said the proposal to give motorists additional notice that their drivers' licenses were due for renewal may not be too good.

Rau noted the law was changed earlier to make drivers' licenses expire on birthdays so motorists could remember the date easier. Rau said with 30 per cent of motorists paying delinquent penalties of an extra dollar state income from that source could drop 12-13 per cent.

LeBreton said his subcommittee felt "we ought to perform a service to the people of Louisiana by notifying them their licenses are due for renewal."

Expect Hiker To Arrive In Natchez Today

NATCHEZ, Miss. (Special) —"The Old Hiker" is expected to arrive here today after retracing a hiking trip along the once - dangerous Natchez Trace from Nashville to Natchez.

Accompanying the Louisville, Ky., man is Eugene Short and his wife, Bee, and Carlyle Chamberlain, all members of a hiking club to which Hardaway belongs.

Hardaway, in the spring of 1960, walked the distance from Nashville to Natchez.

He is apparently touring by automobile this time.

He said he will start back to Kentucky Tuesday after doing research in Mississippi on the Choctaw Indians.

Hardaway's No. 1 project is to gather material for a book, which he says will interest people on the Old Natchez Trace and the new Natchez Trace Parkway and other points along the way.
